| | |
|-------------|----------------------------|
| Section 1.1 | Early Colonial Settlements |
| Section 1.2 | The American Revolution |
| Section 1.3 | Westward Expansion |
| Section 1.4 | The Civil War |
| Section 1.5 | The Reconstruction Era |

Section 1.1

Early Colonial Settlements

The first European settlers in North America were primarily men seeking economic opportunities. They established small, isolated communities along the Atlantic coast. The Pilgrims, who arrived in 1620, were seeking religious freedom. The Jamestown settlement, established in 1607, was the first permanent English colony. It initially struggled due to lack of food and resources but eventually thrived through the cultivation of tobacco.

Section 1.2

The American Revolution

The American Revolution was a war for independence from British rule. It began in 1775 and ended in 1783. The colonists, led by George Washington, fought the Battle of Yorktown, which resulted in British surrender. The Declaration of Independence was signed in 1776, and the United States Constitution was drafted in 1787. The revolution established the United States as a sovereign nation.

Section 1.3

Westward Expansion

Westward expansion was a major theme in American history, driven by the desire for land and resources. The Louisiana Purchase of 1803 doubled the size of the United States. The Oregon Trail, a major route for pioneers, was used by thousands of settlers in the mid-19th century. The discovery of gold in California in 1848 led to a massive influx of people. The expansion also led to conflicts with Native American tribes.

Section 1.4

The Civil War

The Civil War, fought from 1861 to 1865, was a pivotal moment in American history. It was primarily fought over the issue of slavery. The Union, led by Abraham Lincoln, emerged victorious, preserving the nation and ending slavery. The war resulted in significant political and social changes, including the passage of the Reconstruction Amendments to the Constitution.
