Integrated Water Resources Management in a Changing World Dietrich Borchardt, Ralf Ibisch, 2013-06-14 This volume presents a selection of the main contributions made to the international conference on Integrated Water Resources Management IWRM entitled Management of Water in a Changing World: Lessons Learnt and Innovative Perspectives that was held from 12 to 13 October 2011 in Dresden, Germany. The book summarises the main messages issuing from the conference and contains selected papers which were presented during the conference either as keynote lectures in plenary sessions or as submitted papers in one of the thematic sessions. The key themes of the book are Water resources in changing environments, Groundwater management, Technologies and implementation, Water management indicators at different scales, Information and decision support systems, Water governance actors and institutions. The book provides an overview on important issues concerning the conceptual framework of integrated water resources management IWRM. All presentations and abstracts and the corresponding PowerPoint presentations as well as a video recording of the panel discussion are available at the conference website <http://www.bmbf.iwrm2011.de>. Readers are encouraged to complete their review of the conference and its messages by consulting this interesting online source of accompanying scientific material. The Energy Security-Climate Nexus C. Kuzemko, 2013-05-07 In the advent of important crises of both climate change and energy supply, security questions are being asked about changes in energy governance. Caroline Kuzemko explains how and why change takes place and discusses the convoluted UK energy governance system that has emerged between 2000 and the present day. She applies a complex theoretical approach based on new institutional concepts of policy paradigm change but which also utilises concepts of depoliticisation and securitization. UK energy governance like energy policy elsewhere is moving from one heavily influenced by neoliberal economic ideas to one where state intervention is more commonplace Moreover the new governance system is informed not by one but by multiple perspectives on energy and governance geopolitical climate change and pro market

Handbook of Land and Water Grabs in Africa John Anthony Allan,2013 Four other themes will address politics economics the environment and the history of land investments in sub Saharan Africa Foreign Direct Investment in Large-Scale Agriculture in Africa Atkeyelsh Persson,2019-05-02 This book examines environmental sustainability and inclusive economic growth providing in depth analysis of foreign direct investment FDI in large scale agriculture in Ethiopia In most African states arable land and other natural resources play a pivotal role for economic growth and development Ethiopia is one of those countries where agriculture is the backbone of the economy This sector has also been an attraction for FDI in Sub Saharan Africa since the global food and financial crisis of 2007 and 2008 This book uses six foreign investments in large scale agriculture as case studies to examine current Ethiopian policies the patterns of investment they promote how these impact on land based resources and communities wellbeing Presenting analyses of the economic social and political realities of foreign direct investment in the local context Foreign Direct Investment in Large Scale Agriculture in Africa discusses how the fundamental principles of pro poor and environmentally sustainable investments intersect with the government s ambition to advance Ethiopia s development agenda This book will be of interest to scholars and students of African economics and sustainable development African policy makers intergovernmental organisations as well as multilateral and bilateral development partners Code of Federal Regulations, Title 40, Protection of Environment, Pt. 136-149, Revised as of July 1 2011 Office of the Federal Register (U.S.) Staff,2011-09-23 Strengthening Organizations and Collective Action in Fisheries Daniela Coswig Kalikoski,Nicole Franz,2014 Strengthening organizations and collective action in small scale fisheries SSFs is crucial to safeguarding fishers livelihoods and food and nutrition security as well as to fighting poverty and vulnerability The crucial role of organizations in SSFs was underscored during the 2008 Global Conference on Small scale Fisheries held in Bangkok Thailand and the consultative workshops and related events supporting the development of the international guidelines for securing sustainable small scale fisheries SSF Guidelines The United Nations declared 2012 the International Year of Cooperatives with the theme Cooperative Enterprises Build a Better World This provided further impetus for championing fishers organizations and collective action as important instruments and drivers in promoting responsible fisheries and achieving the twin objectives of human and ecosystem wellbeing In this context the workshop Strengthening Organizations and Collective Action in Fisheries was held at FAO Rome Italy on 18 20 March 2013 It was attended by 26 SSF experts representing civil society organizations governments and academia The workshop anticipated the implementation of the SSF Guidelines by looking at the diversity of existing organizations and collective action in SSFs discussing their strengths and weaknesses and proposing elements for a capacity development strategy to strengthen organizations and collective action in SSFs to reduce poverty while promoting responsible fisheries The workshop identified challenges and opportunities and examined alternative pathways on how organizations and collective action in fisheries can strengthen and be strengthened by the SSF Guidelines This publication summarizes the workshop results and intends to provide a useful reference document that will feed into the process of implementing the SSF Guidelines which should be endorsed by the FAO Committee on Fisheries during its session in 2014

Urbanization and Development, 2016 The analysis of urban development of the past twenty years presented in this maiden edition of the World Cities Report shows with compelling evidence that there are new forms of collaboration and cooperation planning governance finance and learning that can sustain positive change The Report unequivocally demonstrates that the current urbanization model is unsustainable in many respects It conveys a clear message that the pattern of urbanization needs to change in order to better respond to the challenges of our time to address issues such as inequality climate change informality insecurity and the unsustainable forms of urban expansion
