The Cambridge Handbook of Instructional Feedback Anastasiya A. Lipnevich, Jeffrey K. Smith, 2018-11-15 This book brings together leading scholars from around the world to provide their most influential thinking on instructional feedback. The chapters range from academic in depth reviews of the research on instructional feedback to a case study on how feedback altered the life course of one author. Furthermore, it features critical subject areas including mathematics, science, music, and even animal training, and focuses on working at various developmental levels of learners. The affective and non-cognitive aspects of feedback are also targeted, such as how learners react emotionally to receiving feedback. The exploration of the theoretical underpinnings of how feedback changes the course of instruction leads to practical advice on how to give such feedback effectively in a variety of diverse contexts. Anyone interested in researching instructional feedback or providing it in their class or course will discover why, when, and where instructional feedback is effective and how best to provide it. A Preceptorship Model for Nurses in Rural Health Care Facilities Marilyn Enid Pottinger, Brandon University. Rural Development Institute, 1994. This report describes a preceptorship model that provides student nurses with clinical practice in rural health facilities. The development and implementation of a preceptorship model reflects a partnership between nursing education and nursing service between the urban nursing school and the rural hospital. A five-stage preceptorship model is presented that includes development of guidelines, selection of participants, orientation of participants, implementation, and evaluation. The model draws on a literature review plus feedback from nurse preceptors and graduating nursing students. The model emphasizes the importance of clearly stated purposes and objectives, guidelines outlining the roles and responsibilities of the student, the preceptor, and the faculty liaison, and careful selection and preparation of all participants. In spring 1992, 24 students completed their senior practicums in rural hospitals using the preceptorship model; all were satisfied with the experience, met their clinical objectives, and completed their learning contracts. Evaluations of the model by the faculty liaison, preceptors, and students resulted in 18 recommendations to improve implementation of the model. The strongest preceptor recommendation was that students and preceptors work identical hours with identical patient assignments. Contains 53 references. Appendices include preceptor questionnaire, terminal nursing competencies agreement between nursing school and health care facility, form for assessing potential preceptors, and evaluation forms for students and preceptors.
