Flexible Automation in Japan J. Hartley, 2013-04-09 Much has been said and written about Japan's manufacturing prowess. Most of the comment comes from people who are merely visitors to the country and can be best classified as observers looking in from the outside. Other views come from the Japanese themselves in which the double barrier of culture and language filters out much information that would be of real value to Western industrialists. Neither of these limitations apply to John Hartley who has been resident in Japan for the past five years. He understands the culture, can speak the language and has extensive contacts at the highest level. Therefore he is in a unique position to report on the Japanese scene and its activities in advanced manufacturing technology. This he has been doing on a regular basis to IFS magazines: The Industrial Robot, Assembly Automation, Sensor Review and The FMS Magazine. Most of the material in this book is from John Hartley's pen and represents his most significant contributions on flexible automation in Japan to these journals over the last three years. It is augmented with a few other articles written by leading authorities on new technology in Japanese manufacturing industry.

InfoWorld, 1989 Routledge Revivals: The World Electronics Industry \(1990\) Daniel Todd, 2018-02-05 First published in 1990, this book provides an overview of the global distribution of the electronics industry and the structural factors which promoted this distribution by the end of the 1980s. Regarded as a flagship sector in both advanced and developing countries, the electronics industry is encouraged by governments everywhere. Covering both the civilian and the military sides of the industry, Professor Todd reflects on the future of civilian electronics in the light of its global segmentation and hints at the fundamental role of governments in the unfolding of both civilian and defence electronics developments. He also endorses the overwhelming significance of strategies being played by electronics enterprises in both the USA and Japan.
