Leaves in the Wind Kit Cain,2006-05-15 The central figure of this short story is a biker named Montana LeFandra not his real name I was about to say hero of this story but on thinking about it the shoe doesn t really fit the foot Though the teller of the story might well see himself as a hero there s some question about whether others would Montana swears to God the story is absolutely true The only trouble I have with his statement is that I m not at all sure who his God is or how much of the story he lived himself heard from someone else or read about Montana claimed to be the Founding Father of the Iron Horsemen Motorcycle Club which started out as himself and a bunch of his biker buddies drinking carousing with women and spending weekends at various hideaways on the desert and in the mountains of southern California They had so much fun that the Club gradually grew in size to over two thousand members and also became a major management problem How Montana handled it is a story in itself but what he did after an all out life and death war with Hell s Angels is another story again all of it written as faithfully as I can remember it between these two covers browbeat Brennan into releasing the case Breaching the Wall cold case squad yielded two persons of interest a prosperous attorney and a Roman Catholic Monsignor who was the Police Commissioner s twin brother Patti discovered the meaning of the loneliness of command as she descended into the squalid world of sexism racism corruption and worst of all pedophilia The gruesome trail took her to the pillars of society Patti found herself in the crosshairs of vile violent men who would love to put a bullet between her eyes The investigation exposed a massive political cover up leading to the top of the food chain and ripped open a sleepy suburban county with the arrests of a powerful figure and Brennan
