SECTION A: (3x10 marks)

Short questions based on a comprehension passage you will be provided with. Before you attempt to answer any question read through the text two to three times underlining key ideas and words. You must write full sentences which are logical, coherent and cohesive.

SECTION B: MULTIPLE CHOICE QUESTIONS (10 MARKS)

In this section you are provided with ten multiple choice questions. When answering these questions your understanding of English is tested. NOTE most of the questions requires to provide facts or information which is not explicitly stated in the comprehension passage. The following skills are being tested: word and phrase inference, the ability to read between the lines, knowledge of a variety of discourse genres you will interact with in the academic world, the ability to recognise and interpret English metaphors and idioms, establish writer's intention, the writer's audience, understanding of explicitly stated facts or details, use of punctuation marks, referencing methods or conventions, structure of discourse or texts, meanings of abbreviations and acronyms, the writer's tone, attitude, feelings and emotions, providing synonyms, antonyms, homophones and homonyms, identifying prefixes and suffixes. All in all, you must read extensively as you prepare for the examination. The passages the examiners bring in the examination are varied.
