Proceedings of the ... Conference New Zealand Geographical Society. Conference, New Zealand Geographical Society, 2000 The future of dialects Marie-Hélène Côté, Remco Knooihuizen, John Nerbonne, 2016-02-05 Traditional dialects have been encroached upon by the increasing mobility of their speakers and by the onslaught of national languages in education and mass media Typically older dialects are leveling to become more like national languages This is regrettable when the last articulate traces of a culture are lost but it also promotes a complex dynamics of interaction as speakers shift from dialect to standard and to intermediate compromises between the two in their forms of speech Varieties of speech thus live on in modern communities where they still function to mark provenance but increasingly cultural and social provenance as opposed to pure geography They arise at times from the need to function throughout the different groups in society but they also may have roots in immigrants speech and just as certainly from the ineluctable dynamics of groups wishing to express their identity to themselves and to the world The future of dialects is a selection of the papers presented at Methods in Dialectology XV held in Groningen the Netherlands 11-15 August 2014 While the focus is on methodology the volume also includes specialized studies on varieties of Catalan Breton Croatian Belgian Dutch English in the US the UK and in Japan German including Swiss German Italian including Tyrolean Italian Japanese and Spanish as well as on heritage languages in Canada

Linking Theory with Practice in the Classroom John Elliott, Vicky Christoforatu, 2024-06-12 Focusing on the professional learning journeys of practising teachers and their tutors this book takes readers through the experiences of teachers on the Developing Innovative Pedagogies through the Lesson Study module at the University of East Anglia Building on the perspectives of teachers practising Lesson Study the book delves into the design of a series of action research cycles to solve authentic learning and teaching problems in a variety of educational settings In addition to theoretical tools and concepts on pedagogy this book gives voice to teachers who become researchers while crossing the boundaries of school and university and the boundaries of theory and practice The teacher researchers ask their own questions test their hypotheses and work collaboratively with their school colleagues to experiment with teaching strategies aimed at learning with understanding The chapters feature the voices of the pupils themselves and their experiences of learning within a range of educational settings and phases Written for teachers leaders in education teacher educators and researchers this book shows that the combination of good learning theories and teacher collaboration help bridge the gap between theory and practice in teachers professional learning and enable learners to deepen their knowledge and understanding
