English First Additional Language Paper 2 September 2012:

Standards of English in Higher Education Neil Murray, 2015-10-22 The student demographic of universities today has changed quite dramatically from even a decade ago As universities seek to internationalise widen participation and derive attendant reputational and financial benefits along with greater opportunities for research collaborations and industry links they also face a growing challenge associated with what Neil Murray terms the English language question In particular as the proportion of students of non English speaking backgrounds entering universities increases there is growing concern over levels of language proficiency and what this can mean for educational standards the student experience and ultimately institutional standing Standards of English in Higher Education unpacks a number of key and interrelated issues for example the assessment of proficiency and the structure and nature of provision that bear on the question of English language standards and in doing so offers a frank and critical appraisal of English language in higher education today

Constitutionalism and Legal Change in Myanmar Andrew Harding, Khin Khin Oo, 2017-01-26 Myanmar's Constitution of 2008 was the road map for the reform process that began in 2011 Despite extensive criticism of this Constitution for its emphasis on the role of the military much progress has been made towards constitutional government and law reform With the election of the opposition NLD to government in the general election of November 2015 and the presidential electoral college election of March 2016 now is the time to consider the Constitution and prospects and needs for constitutional change as Myanmar moves towards democracy and the rule of law Much has been made of the Constitution's rigidity which is seen as an obstacle to reform and inconsistent with embracing the rule of law human rights and multi party democracy especially with a rapidly transforming state and society Nonetheless the Constitution is also seen as having potential to be a very positive force for reform Many issues arise now for constitutionalism and constitutional change presidency federalism and territorial governance the status of minorities and freedom of religion civil liberties in what is described as a discipline flourishing democracy the courts justice and the rule of law the electoral system and many more This book is an attempt to gauge the extent and potential for the entrenchment of constitutionalism in Myanmar in a rapidly changing environment

At the doors of lexical access: The importance of the first 250 milliseconds in reading Jon Andoni Dunabeitia, Nicola Molinaro, 2014-09-30 Correct word identification and processing is a prerequisite for accurate reading and decades of psycholinguistic and neuroscientific research have shown that the magical moments of visual word recognition are short lived and markedly fast The time window in which a given letter string passes from being a mere sequence of printed curves and strokes to acquiring the word status takes around one third of a second In a few hundred milliseconds a skilled reader recognizes an isolated word and carries out a number of underlying processes such as the encoding of letter position and letter identity and lexico semantic information retrieval However the precise manner and order in which these processes occur or co occur is a matter of contention subject to empirical research There s no agreement regarding the precise timing of some of the essential processes that guide visual word processing such as precise letter identification letter position assignment or sub word unit processing bigrams trigrams syllables morphemes among others Which is the sequence of processes that lead to lexical access How do these and other processes interact with each other during the early moments of word processing Do these processes occur in a serial fashion or do they take place in parallel Are these processes subject to mutual interaction principles Is feedback allowed for within the earliest stages of word identification And ultimately when does the reader s brain effectively identify a given word A vast number of questions remain open and this Research Topic will cover some of them giving the readership the opportunity to understand how the scientific community faces the problem of modeling the early stages of word identification according to the latest neuroscientific findings The present Research Topic aimed to combine recent experimental evidence on early word processing from different techniques together with comprehensive reviews of the current work directions in order to create a landmark forum in which experts in the field defined the state of the art and future directions We were willing to receive submissions of empirical as well as theoretical and review articles based on different computational and neuroscience oriented methodologies We especially encouraged researchers primarily using electrophysiological or magnetoencephalographic techniques as well as eye tracking to participate given that these techniques provide us with the opportunity to uncover the mysteries of lexical access allowing for a fine grained time course analysis The main focus of interest concerned the processes that are held within the initial 250 300 milliseconds after word presentation covering areas that link basic visuo attentional systems with linguistic mechanisms BiblioAsia National Library (Singapore),2016
