Bechtol Jr.,2018-09-07 North Korea has posed a threat to stability in Northeast Asia for decades Since Kim Jong un assumed power this threat has both increased and broadened Since 2011 the small isolated nation has detonated nuclear weapons multiple times tested a wide variety of ballistic missiles expanded naval and ground systems that threaten South Korea and routinely employs hostile rhetoric Another threat it poses has been less recognized North Korea presents a potentially greater risk to American interests by exporting its weapons systems to other volatile regions worldwide In North Korean Military Proliferation in the Middle East and Africa Bruce E Bechtol Jr analyzes relevant North Korean military capabilities what arms the nation provides and to whom how it skirts its sanctions and how North Korea s activities can best be contained He traces illicit networks that lead to state and nonstate actors in the Middle East including Syria Iran Hezbollah and Hamas and throughout Africa including at least a dozen nations The potential proliferation of nuclear and chemical weapons technology and the vehicles that carry it including ballistic missiles and artillery represent a broader threat than the leadership in Pyongyang Including training and infrastructure support North Korea s profits may range into the billions of dollars all concealed in illicit networks and front companies so complex that the nation struggles to track and control them Bechtol not only presents an accurate picture of the current North Korean threat he also outlines methodologies that Washington and the international community must embrace in order to contain it

China's Evolving Nuclear Deterrent Eric Heginbotham,Michael S. Chase,Jacob L. Heim,Bonny Lin,Mark R. Cozad,Lyle J. Morris,Christopher P. Twomey,Forrest E. Morgan,Michael Nixon,Cristina L. Garafola,Samuel K. Berkowitz,2017-03-06 China s approach to nuclear deterrence has been broadly consistent since its first test in 1964 but it has recently accelerated nuclear force modernization China s strategic environment is likely to grow more complex and nuclear constituencies are gaining a larger bureaucratic voice

South Korea at the Crossroads Scott A. Snyder, 2018-01-02 Against the backdrop of China's mounting influence and North Korea's growing nuclear capability and expanding missile arsenal South Korea faces a set of strategic choices that will shape its economic prospects and national security In South Korea at the Crossroads Scott A. Snyder examines the trajectory of fifty years of South Korean foreign policy and offers predictions and a prescription for the future Pairing a historical perspective with a shrewd understanding of today's political landscape Snyder contends that South Korea's best strategy remains investing in a robust alliance with the United States Snyder begins with South Korea's effort in the 1960s to offset the risk of abandonment by the United States during the Vietnam War and the subsequent crisis in the alliance during the 1970s A series of shifts in South Korean foreign relations followed the Nordpolitik engagement with the Soviet Union and China at the end of the Cold War Kim Dae Jung's Sunshine Policy designed to bring North Korea into the international community trustpolitik which sought to foster diplomacy with North Korea and Japan and changes in South Korea's relationship with the United States Despite its rise as a leader in international financial development and climate change forums South Korea will likely still require the commitment of the United States to guarantee its security Although China is a tempting option Snyder argues that only the United States is both credible and capable in this role South Korea remains vulnerable relative to other regional powers in northeast Asia despite its rising profile as a middle power and it must balance the contradiction of desirable autonomy and necessary alliance
