

Section - A [Reading]

1. Read the passage carefully and answer the following questions
 1. High - altitude climbing is still a very dangerous task in spite of the availability of oxygen masks, and other protective equipments which modern climbers take with them. These of course, are indispensable accessories of climbing, but more important than these is the stamina of the climber which ultimately determines the success of his attempt. Throughout his journey, death is his constant companion which he can keep at a distance only with his superb presence of mind. He has to tread every inch of the ground with the utmost care, for a false step may not strike him a fatal blow but also bring disaster to the whole expedition. That is why all expeditions invariably take with them local guides who are experienced climbers and who have a thorough knowledge of the nature of the terrain. Moreover a huge amount of capital is needed for financing these expeditions and this is generally provided by governments or rich private organizations.
 2. The primary object of mountaineering expedition is to get to the top of a high mountain, which in the past has withstood all attempt to conquer it. But it should not be presumed that the expedition is a complete failure if it does not reach its destination sometimes operations are temporarily suspended because of bad weather, loss of some valuable equipment or the sudden death of a very important member of the party. Every big expedition takes with it men who are interested in botany, biology, Zoology and various other branches of science and these men carry with them equipment for recording their observations concerning the weather, the other terrain and different forms of life in higher altitudes other scientists explorers and expeditionists utilize the fruits of their observations. Thus every unsuccessful expedition contributes to the success of later expedition. The British expedition led by colonel hunt would have found their way to Everest much more difficult had not earlier expedition armed them with useful knowledge about death dealing weather which they had to encounter in the vicinity of the summit.
 3. To ordinary people, mountaineering need not be a fearful journey in the land of snowstorms where the brave adventurer is always face to face with death. They can scale less ambitious heights, rest their weary limbs under a quite shelter and feast their eyes on the distant landscape. In the company of friends, they can enjoy and outgoing near a waterfall or cross into the next valley with haversacks
