Rubber Manufacturing in Malaysia C.C. Goldthorpe,2015-06-25 Malaysia s rubber manufacturing sector is a prime example of an industry based on a locally produced agricultural resource In Rubber Manufacturing in Malaysia C C Goldthorpe draws on industrial policy theory along with many years of practical experience to examine the growth of rubber manufacturing in Malaysia Over the past century a series of technological discoveries resulted in the worldwide rise of a rubber production industry that manufactures tyres for motor vehicles engineering components household gloves and medical products Goldthorpe argues that the production of rubber goods has played a significant part in the transformation of the country from primary commodity producer to newly industrialized economy a position he supports by tracing the historical development of rubber based industrial production and the effects of government policies promoting industrialization Taken as a whole the rubber industry is vertically integrated with locally produced natural and synthetic rubbers used by the rubber manufacturing sector to produce latex products and general rubber goods for export markets

Where does religion end? Marcelo da Luz,2017-08-31 The author s decision to leave religion after experiencing a profound growth crisis founded itself in the free action of one who after walking tenaciously has extinguished an existential possibility and reached a new realm of understanding about the realities of the consciousness and the universe The inner freedom encountered to make this kind of decision was the result of a gradual self confrontation This author perceived the necessity to dispel the fear associated with questioning his habitual suppositions and to look beyond the limits of the indoctrination he had received For a long time while still religious he named this fearlessness a quest for wisdom or the spirituality of an unsettled heart Nowadays in light of the experiences had he prefers to emphasize the courage to evolve which requires five years after the abjuration the assumption of speaking publicly about the dissidence that was effected When dissidents of ideologies or institutions start talking or writing about their experiences it is necessary to observe the kind of motivation and intention implicit in the decision made The former militant the former integrant the former partisan the former something in spite of the effort to affirm that they are no longer part of the institution to which they once belonged may continue to define themselves based on the institution In this case the person is still a former in relation to what they intend to deny Perhaps in their eagerness to critically speak out about the reasons underlying their abandonment of a certain idea or organization they still flaunt the previous condition as a trophy unfurling the pride of being a former The ambiguity in question lies in the fact that the person s point of reference continues to be in the no longer desired way of living or thinking
