Military Bursary 2014:

Identity, Motivation and Memory Sarah Kayss,2018-09-03 This book explores the connection between British and German officer cadets perceptions of the past and their motivations for enlisting in the military forces in the United Kingdom and Germany Drawing upon qualitative interviews and survey data conducted at officers academies in the UK and Germany the author offers a comparative analysis using differing approaches towards history and memory in Britain and Germany while considering the roles of individual goals and societal orientations in the decision to enlist Employing the notion of pragmatic professionalism which reflects the fact that occupational and institutional reasons for enlisting are not opposite points on a single scale Professionalism Memory and Identity examines history orientated reasons for enlistment by shedding light on officer cadets values beliefs and wider cultural understandings of the past With attention to differences in motivation as a result of differing national backgrounds and former military training as well as the extent to which these divergences contribute to the emergence of different types of soldiers in the two countries this comparative international study will appeal to scholars of sociology politics and war studies with interests in the military profession and the role of history in contemporary Britain and Germany

European Military Culture and Security Governance Tamir Libel,2016-03-17 This book offers the first systematic comparative analysis of military education and training in Europe within the context of the post Cold War security environment Based on an analysis of military education institutions in the UK Germany Finland Romania and the Baltic States this book demonstrates that the convergence of European military cultures since the end of the Cold War is linked to changes in military education The process of convergence originates at least in part from the full or partial adoption of a new concept by post commissioning professional military education institutions the National Defence University Officers are now educated alongside civilians and public servants wherein they enjoy a socialization experience that is markedly different from that of previous generations of European officers and is increasingly similar across national borders In addition this book argues that with the control over the curricula and graduation criteria increasingly set by civilian higher education authorities the European armed forces while continuing to exist and hold significant although declining capabilities stand to lose their status as a profession in the traditional sense This book will be of much interest to students of military European security policy European politics and IR in general

Approach to Battle Alan Jeffreys,2017-01-24 The Indian Army was the largest volunteer army during the Second World War Indian Army divisions fought in the Middle East North Africa and Italy and went to make up the overwhelming majority of the troops in South East Asia Over two million personnel served in the Indian Army and India provided the base for supplies for the Middle Eastern and South East Asian theatres This monograph is a modern historical interpretation of the Indian Army as a holistic organisation during the Second World War It will look at training in India charting how the Indian Army developed a more comprehensive training structure than any other Commonwealth country This was achieved through both the dissemination of doctrine and the professionalism of a small coterie of Indian Army officers who brought about a military culture within the Indian Army starting in the 1930s that came to fruition during the Second World War which informed the formal learning process Finally it will show that the Indian Army was reorganised after experiences of the First World War During the interwar period the army developed training and belief for both fighting on the North West Frontier and as an aid to civil power With the outbreak of the Second World War in addition to these roles the army had to expand and adapt to fighting modern professional armies in the difficult terrains of desert jungle and mountain warfare A clear development of doctrine and training can be seen with many pamphlets being produced by GHQ India that were in turn used to formulate training within formations and then used in divisional brigade and unit training instructions thus a clear line of process can be seen not only from GHQ India down to brigade and battalion level but also upwards from battalion and brigade level based on experience in battle that was absorbed into new training instructions Together with the added impetus for education in the army by 1945 the Indian Army had become a modern professional and national army
