The Middle and Upper Paleolithic Archeology of the Levant and Beyond Yoshihiro Nishiaki, Takeru Akazawa, 2017-12-06 This volume is a compilation of results from sessions of the Second International Conference on the Replacement of Neanderthals by Modern Humans which took place between November 30 and December 6 2014 in Hokkaido Japan Similar to the first conference held in 2012 in Tokyo the 2014 conference RNMH2014 aimed to compile the results of the latest multidisciplinary approaches investigating the issues surrounding the replacement of Neanderthals by modern humans The results of the sessions supplemented by off site contributions center on the archeology of the Middle and Upper Paleolithic of the Levant and beyond The first part of this volume presents recent findings from the Levant while the second part focuses on the neighboring regions namely the Caucasus the Zagros and South Asia The 13 chapters in this volume highlight the distinct nature of the cultural occurrences during the Middle and Upper Paleolithic periods of the Levant displaying a continuous development as well as a combination of lithic traditions that may have originated in different regions This syncretism which is an unusual occurrence in the regions discussed in this volume reinforces the importance of the Levant as a region for interpreting the RNMH phenomenon in West Asia

Earned Citizenship Michael J. Sullivan, 2019-03-19 The migration and settlement of 11 million unauthorized immigrants is among the leading political challenges facing the United States today But what do the state and citizens owe to unauthorized immigrants given non citizen contributions to their adopted country and connections to citizens who depend on them Earned Citizenship is a normative intervention in migration and citizenship studies that advances the proposition that long term unauthorized immigrant residents should be able to earn legalization and a pathway to citizenship through service to citizens in their adopted communities

Bounded Rationality and Economic Diplomacy Lauge N. Skovgaard Poulsen,2015-08-21 Modern investment treaties give private arbitrators power to determine whether governments should pay compensation to foreign investors for a wide range of sovereign acts In recent years particularly developing countries have incurred significant liabilities from investment treaty arbitration which begs the question why they signed the treaties in the first place Through a comprehensive and timely analysis this book shows that governments in developing countries typically overestimated the economic benefits of investment treaties and practically ignored their risks Rooted in insights on bounded rationality from behavioural psychology and economics the analysis highlights how policy makers often relied on inferential shortcuts when assessing the implications of the treaties which resulted in systematic deviations from fully rational behaviour This not only sheds new light on one of the most controversial legal regimes underwriting economic globalization but also provides a novel theoretical account of the often irrational yet predictable nature of economic diplomacy
