Alternative Models of Addiction Hanna Pickard, Serge H. Ahmed, Bennett Foddy, 2015-12-07 For much of the 20th century theories of addictive behaviour and motivation were polarized between two models The first model viewed addiction as a moral failure for which addicts are rightly held responsible and judged accordingly The second model in contrast viewed addiction as a specific brain disease caused by neurobiological adaptations occurring in response to chronic drug or alcohol use and over which addicts have no choice or control As our capacity to observe neurobiological phenomena improved the second model became scientific orthodoxy increasingly dominating addiction research and informing public understandings of addiction More recently however a dissenting view has emerged within addiction research based partly on new scientific research and partly on progress in philosophical and psychological understandings of relevant mental phenomena This view does not revert to treating addiction as a moral failure but nonetheless holds that addictive behaviour is fundamentally motivated by choice and subject to at least a degree of voluntary control On this alternative model of addiction addictive behaviour is an instrumental means to ends that are desired by the individual although much controversy exists with respect to the rationality or irrationality of these ends the degree and nature of the voluntary control of addictive behaviour and motivation the explanation of the difference between addictive and non addictive behaviour and motivation and lastly the extent to which addictive behaviour and motivation is correctly characterised as pathological or diseased This research topic includes papers in the traditions of neuroscience psychology philosophy law and social science that explore alternative understandings of addiction

WHOLE Rex Miller, Bill Latham, Kevin Baird, Michelle Kinder, 2020-02-25 A shocking statistic in education reveals that 70% of K 12 teachers work under chronic stress This revolutionary new book explains how removing stress from the classroom holds the key to improving education The book also explains what administrators teachers parents and communities can do to help accomplish a stress free classroom For years the expert voices said disengagement was the crucial issue behind poor educational environments and results Naturally only massive reform could fix it But what if the enormous restructuring and expenditures attacked the wrong problem MindShift an organization that reframes tired and clogged conversations pushed the old conclusions off the table and started fresh They gathered diverse leaders in education leadership neuroscience architecture and wellness in working forums around the nation These pivotal meetings produced WHOLE a game changing approach to education This book captures the story and details of how the system can be remade for real and lasting benefits to everyone With the authors expertise the book exposes the exhausted and antiquated thinking that led to the present crisis But WHOLE also proposes a new era of disruptive change that can produce happier healthier and more successful education for the 21st century The book introduces the outliers tells the stories and presents the roadmaps to Why teachers should be seen as high performance athletes requiring time for recovery and preparation How schools can become field hospitals combining learning with healing Why space matters how redesigning and refurbishing schools can eliminate stress and produce learning environments that are more open and inviting Ways to properly integrate schools within communities building honest relationships increasing social capital and achieving transparency that increases success Packed with real life examples new research and solutions that you can introduce to your own schools students and communities WHOLE shows us how to move schools from the age of stress and insecurity to an age of true educational flourishing
