Once upon a time, in a valley of mountains, there was a garden called Quercia. While the friends between them were eating food, making music, and working together under a canopy of serenity, Quercia had an eternal discontent. He was running forward, understood that he was being with anxiety, thinking about everything.

At the end of the month, when the valley was about to wake up to start the day's work, Quercia would have been there since they found him in their houses on Earth. "Why does it have to be so difficult? Can't we get a single shot of joyfully sometimes our goal?" he was saying to his head.

When the friends between them were on the way out of the local area, Quercia would meet them and that again. However, it never takes long to run through the whole. He would stop and, contemplating about carrying heavy loads. "Why do we need so much food?" This is not food? he was able to hear in his head, ... what makes the friends even more.

Quercia who he grew did not the conversation with others between them too. He would give them about (what if they did a full bag or he would give them a satisfying look. The others would try to bring him happiness by making him to their collective work, or by taking care, but Quercia would always remain stubborn. He would not give up what they were doing to do. I mean, it is missing the sense of reality.
