Grade Economics Final Paper 2014:

Behavioral Science & Policy: Volume 2, Issue 1 Craig Fox, Sim B. Sitkin, 2016-11-22 The success of nearly all public and private sector policies hinges on the behavior of individuals, groups, and organizations. Today such behaviors are better understood than ever thanks to a growing body of practical behavioral science research. However, policymakers often are unaware of behavioral science findings that may help them craft and execute more effective and efficient policies. The pages of this new journal will become a meeting ground, a place where scientists and non-scientists can encounter clearly described behavioral research that can be put into action. By design, the scope of BSP is broad with topics spanning health care, financial decisionmaking, energy, and the environment, education and culture, justice and ethics, and work place practices. Contributions will be made by researchers with expertise in psychology, sociology, law, behavioral economics, organization science, decision science, and marketing. The journal is a key offering of the Behavioral Science Policy Association in partnership with the Brookings Institution. The mission of BSPA is to foster dialog between social scientists, policymakers, and other practitioners in order to promote the application of rigorous empirical behavioral science in ways that serve the public interest. BSPA does not advance a particular agenda or political perspective. The first issue's contents follow: Behavioral Science Policy vol 2 no 1 Table of Contents, Editors Note, Spotlight: Pre-Kindergarten Interventions, American Policy on Early Childhood Education Development: Many Programs, Great Hopes, Modest Prospects, Ron Haskins, Evidence for the Benefits of State Prekindergarten Programs, Myth Misrepresentation, Dale C. Farran, Mark W. Lipsey, Reforming Head Start for the 21st Century: A Policy Prescription, Sara Mead, Ashley LiBetti, Mitchel Home Visiting Programs: Four Evidence Based Lessons for Policymakers, Cynthia Osborne, Launching Preschool 2.0: A Road Map to High Quality Public Programs at Scale, Christina Weiland, A 10 Year Strategy of Increased Coordination, Comprehensive Investments in Early Child Development, Ajay Chaudry, Jane Waldfogel, Reimagining Accountability in K-12 Education, Brian P. Gill, Jennifer S. Economics of Means-Tested Transfer Programs in the United States, Volume II Robert A. Moffitt, 2016-11-18 Few government programs in the United States are as controversial as those designed to help the poor. From tax credits to medical assistance, the size and structure of the American safety net is an issue of constant debate. These two volumes update the earlier Means Tested Transfer Programs in the United States with a discussion of the many changes in means tested government programs and the results of new research over the past decade. While some programs that experienced falling outlays in the years prior to the previous volume have remained at low levels of expenditure, many others have grown, including Medicaid, the Earned Income Tax Credit, the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, and subsidized housing programs. For each program, the contributors describe its origins and goals, summarize its history and current rules, and discuss recipients characteristics and the types of benefits they receive This is an invaluable reference for researchers and policy makers that features detailed analyses of many of the most important transfer programs in the United States

Making College Work Harry J. Holzer, Sandy Baum, 2017-08-15 Practical solutions for improving higher education opportunities for disadvantaged students Too many disadvantaged college students in America do not complete their coursework or receive any college credential while others earn degrees or certificates with little labor market value Large numbers of these students also struggle to pay for college and some incur debts that they have difficulty repaying The authors provide a new review of the causes of these problems and offer promising policy solutions The circumstances affecting disadvantaged students stem both from issues on the individual side such as weak academic preparation and financial pressures and from institutional failures Low income students disproportionately attend schools that are underfunded and have weak performance incentives contributing to unsatisfactory outcomes for many students Some solutions including better financial aid or academic supports target individual students Other solutions such as stronger linkages between coursework and the labor market and more structured paths through the curriculum are aimed at institutional reforms All students and particularly those from disadvantaged backgrounds also need better and varied pathways both to college and directly to the job market beginning in high school We can improve college outcomes but must also acknowledge that we must make hard choices and face difficult tradeoffs in the process While no single policy is guaranteed to greatly improve college and career outcomes implementing a number of evidence based policies and programs together has the potential to improve these outcomes substantially

Credit Rating Governance Ahmed Naciri, 2015-01-30 Credit rating agencies play an essential role in the modern financial system and are relied on by creditors and investors on the market In the recent financial crisis their power and reliability were often questioned yet a simple rating downgrade could threaten to bankrupt a whole country This book examines the governance of credit rating agencies as expressed by their ability to fairly ethically and consistently assign higher rates to issuers having lesser default risks However factors such as the drive for increased revenue and market share the inadequate business model the inadequate methodology of assessing risk opacity and inadequate internal monitoring have all been identified as critical governance failures for credit agencies This book explores these issues and proposes some potential solutions and improvements This will be of interest to researchers and advanced students of corporate finance financial economics risk management investment management and banking

The Governance of Credit Rating Agencies Andrea Miglionico, The global crisis revealed that credit rating agencies CRAs are capable of bringing about potential distortions in the financial sector thereby resulting in a reduction in market confidence which in turn influences negotiations and expectations CRAs need to be held accountable for lack of transparency and inaccurate ratings however the existing regulatory framework does not secure adequate investor protection This book provides a new and important contribution to research in the area at a crucial time in the debate around
