

Paper 3 (HL) markschemesMicroeconomics*Chapter 2 Competitive markets: demand and supply*Question 1

- (a) See textbook, page 33.
- (b) See textbook, page 33.
- (c) We can solve the equation to find any two points, but it is simplest to solve for the two intercepts, which give the endpoints of the demand curve. Solving for Q_d when $P = 0$, gives the Q -intercept (i.e. the horizontal intercept), which is $Q = 35$, or the point $(35,0)$. Solving for P when $Q_d = 0$, gives the P -intercept (i.e. the vertical intercept), which is $P = $7$, or the point $(0,7)$. A straight line joining the two intercepts gives the demand curve.
- (d) When $P = $3$, $Q_d = 20$ (thousand) units; when $P = $4$, $Q_d = 15$ (thousand) units.
- (e) When $Q_d = 5$ (thousand), $P = $6$; when $Q_d = 25$ (thousand) units, $P = $2$.
- (f) This was done in part (c) above.
- (g) This was done in part (c) above as part of graphing the demand curve.
- (h) Note that this question presupposes that Z is an inferior good. The equation for the new demand function is $Q_d = 30 - 5P$, obtained by $35 - 5 = 30$ for the parameter a .
- (i) The new Q -intercept (horizontal intercept) is $Q = 30$, or the point $(30,0)$. The new demand curve can be graphed by drawing a curve beginning at the new Q -intercept that is parallel to the initial demand curve. The new P -intercept (vertical intercept) is $P = 6$, or the point $(0,6)$.
- (j) The equation for the new demand function is $Q_d = 45 - 5P$, obtained by $35 + 10 = 45$ for the parameter a .
- (k) The new demand curve can be graphed by drawing a curve beginning at the new Q -intercept, $Q = 45$, or the point $(45,0)$, that is parallel to the initial demand curve.
- (l) The new demand function is $Q_d = 35 - 3P$. The new demand curve becomes steeper (recall the rule given in the textbook, page 35, the greater the absolute value of the slope, the flatter the demand curve).
- (m) See textbook, page 22.

Question 2

- (a) See textbook, page 35.

Ib Math Studies Paper Markschemes:

Proof Technology in Mathematics Research and Teaching Gila Hanna, David A. Reid, Michael de Villiers, 2019-10-02 This book presents chapters exploring the most recent developments in the role of technology in proving. The full range of topics related to this theme are explored including computer proving, digital collaboration among mathematicians, mathematics teaching in schools and universities and the use of the internet as a site of proof learning. Proving is sometimes thought to be the aspect of mathematical activity most resistant to the influence of technological change. While computational methods are well known to have a huge importance in applied mathematics, there is a perception that mathematicians seeking to derive new mathematical results are unaffected by the digital era. The reality is quite different. Digital technologies have transformed how mathematicians work together, how proof is taught in schools and universities and even the nature of proof itself. Checking billions of cases in extremely large but finite sets, impossible a few decades ago, has now become a standard method of proof. Distributed proving by teams of mathematicians working independently on sections of a problem has become very much easier as digital communication facilitates the sharing and comparison of results. Proof assistants and dynamic proof environments have influenced the verification or refutation of conjectures and ultimately how and why proof is taught in schools. And techniques from computer science for checking the validity of programs are being used to verify mathematical proofs. Chapters in this book include not only research reports and case studies but also theoretical essays, reviews of the state of the art in selected areas and historical studies. The authors are experts in the field. IB World Schools Yearbook 2011 Wendy Bosberry-Scott, 2011 This yearbook is the official guide to schools offering the International Baccalaureate Diploma, Middle Years and Primary Years programmes. It tells you where the schools are and what they offer and provides up to date information about the IB programmes and the International Baccalaureate Organization. Learning and Understanding National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Center for Education, Committee on Programs for Advanced Study of Mathematics and Science in American High Schools, 2002-09-06 This book takes a fresh look at programs for advanced studies for high school students in the United States with a particular focus on the Advanced Placement and the International Baccalaureate programs and asks how advanced studies can be significantly improved in general. It also examines two of the core issues surrounding these programs: they can have a profound impact on other components of the education system and participation in the programs has become key to admission at selective institutions of higher education. By looking at what could enhance the quality of high school advanced study programs as well as what precedes and comes after these programs, this report provides teachers, parents, curriculum developers, administrators, college science and mathematics faculty and the educational research community with a detailed assessment that can be used to guide change within advanced study programs.
