Medical Care Output and Productivity David M. Cutler,Ernst R. Berndt,2007-12-01 With the United States and other developed nations spending as much as 14 percent of their GDP on medical care economists and policy analysts are asking what these countries are getting in return Yet it remains frustrating and difficult to measure the productivity of the medical care service industries This volume takes aim at that problem while taking stock of where we are in our attempts to solve it Much of this analysis focuses on the capacity to measure the value of technological change and other health care innovations A key finding suggests that growth in health care spending has coincided with an increase in products and services that together reduce mortality rates and promote additional health gains Concerns over the apparent increase in unit prices of medical care may thus understate positive impacts on consumer welfare When appropriately adjusted for such quality improvements health care prices may actually have fallen Provocative and compelling this volume not only clarifies one of the more nebulous issues in health care analysis but in so doing addresses an area of pressing public policy concern

Nutritional Therapy along the Continuum of Care Barbara Troesch ,Matthias Pirlich,2024-07-12 At the 2022 ESPEN conference the International Declaration on the Human Right to Nutritional Care was presented stating the ethical obligation to ensure optimal nutritional care Still in our aging populations patients often present with a range of chronic conditions that in combination with poor lifestyle choices and other factors such as polypharmacy affect their nutritional status Often hidden behind adipose tissue their muscle mass is decreased and intakes of essential nutrients are low while inflammatory levels are chronically increased

Ending the Scandal of Complacency Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Transport Committee,2008 Although road accident deaths have halved between 1958 and 2007 whilst the number of licensed motor vehicles and vehicle mileage covered increased by 400 per cent the current rate of 3 000 deaths and 250 000 injuries is still an unacceptably high level Road accidents are the largest single cause of death for people between the ages of 5 and 35 in Britain and road accidents cost our economy some 18 billion each year The number of deaths and injuries on roads far outweighs the deaths and injuries in other transport modes and should be viewed as a major public health problem The Government should establish a British Road Safety Survey to track overall casualty and safety trends and review current methods for recording road traffic injuries The Committee recommends a systems approach to road safety ensuring the vehicle the road infrastructure regulations and driver training are designed to similar safety and performance standards Other recommendations include more 20 mph speed limits a more proactive approach to determining the safety benefits of new vehicle technologies action on young drivers who represent a disproportionate risk to road users and vulnerable users motorcyclists elderly and child pedestrians and cyclists horse riders a higher priority given to enforcement of drink drive and drug drive offences The Committee recommends the establishment of an independent Road Safety Commission with powers to work across the whole of government ensuring that a high priority and adequate resources are given to road safety and that all government departments and agencies give active support The Government should also establish a road accident investigation branch like those in aviation rail and marine
