Developing Early Comprehension Skills Through Picture Book Talk Donna Thomson, 2023-12-13 Developing Early Comprehension Skills Through Picture Book Talk demonstrates how strategic picture reading and playful sensory learning can develop young children's explicit and implicit comprehension skills regardless of their decoding ability. Offering an inclusive teaching and assessment approach that aligns with the Early Years Foundation Stage (EYFS) framework and supports the early adopter school initiative, it will help readers to guide children's use of picture reading for meaning strategies in preparation for more complex comprehension instruction in Year 1. The book also contains useful resources such as colour picture booklets and downloadable family workshop sessions to help guide parents in more effective picture book talk at home. It offers corresponding steps for planning teaching and assessing children's picture book talk, multisensory learning, self-questioning skills, and early reading for meaning. The methods and activities within this book specifically help to develop vocabulary, setting vocabulary, character vocabulary, general vocabulary, communication, and language skills, critical thinking, and inference skills, metacognition, personal learning awareness, self-confidence, and self-regulation skills. Providing examples of practice, photocopiable resources, and step-by-step guidance for teaching key comprehension strategies and early self-regulation skills, this book is essential reading for all those who work with young children and wish to encourage a love of reading.

Strategies for Collaborating With Children Clare Curtin, 2024-06-01 Strategies for Collaborating With Children: Creating Partnerships in Occupational Therapy and Research applies client-centered and strengths-based theories to pediatric practice. The text is organized using a research-based conceptual model of collaboration. Within this text, there are detailed descriptions of how to engage and work with children aged 3 to 12 years from the beginning to the end of therapy. Dr. Clare Curtin covers a variety of topics such as how to interview children, involve them in defining the purpose of therapy, and develop self-advocacy. Similarly presented is the therapist's role as a guide in setting respectful limits, teaching self-regulation, avoiding power struggles, and co-creating educational experiences that are challenging and fun. Strategies for Collaborating With Children: Creating Partnerships in Occupational Therapy and Research advocates for children's rights and participation in therapy and research. The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child, the new sociology of childhood, and childhood studies are discussed. Also included are children's perspectives on what therapists should know and what children said they might be thinking at each stage of therapy. The last chapter focuses on methods to enhance children's participation in research, including adaptations for children with disabilities. Unique features: Describes a new research-based model of collaboration with children; incorporates children's views and knowledge about therapy; illustrates the use of client-centered and strengths-based theories, as well as child-friendly approaches within pediatric practice; provides over 1,600 practical strategies that are exemplified by stories with actual dialogue; describes ways to involve children throughout the research process; identifies verbal, visual, and activity-based participatory research methods for eliciting children's voices.

including creative ways to involve children with different levels of abilities Includes review questions at the end of each chapter Included with the text are online supplemental materials for faculty use in the classroom Strategies for Collaborating With Children Creating Partnerships in Occupational Therapy and Research delivers a comprehensive resource for collaborating with children for the occupational therapist occupational therapy assistant or any other practitioner working with children in a therapeutic setting
