Study Guide

450 In a certain population, the gene for red hair is recessive (rr), while the normal allele is dominant (R). How many alleles do you have for this gene? How many alleles do you have for all the other genes in your genome?

451 In a family, both parents have brown hair and they are both heterozygous for this trait. They have three children, and none have red hair. What is the probability of producing another child, and what is the probability that the child will have red hair? Explain why you think this is the case.

452 What is the probability of a child being born with a certain trait, given the parents' genotypes? Explain why you think this is the case.

453 In the pedigree at left, determine the genotype of each individual. Explain why you think this is the case.

454 In the pedigree at right, determine the genotype of each individual. Explain why you think this is the case.

455 What are the two forms of chromosomes? What are the two main sex chromosomes? What are the two main sex chromosomes in a male? What are the two main sex chromosomes in a female? Explain why you think this is the case.

456 In fruit flies, eye color is a sex-linked trait. The gene for red eyes is located on the X chromosome. Red eyes (R) are dominant to white eyes (r). Cross a heterozygous red-eyed female fruit fly with a white-eyed male fruit fly.

a. What percentage of their offspring would have red eyes?
 b. What percentage of their offspring would be carriers for red eyes?
 c. If you had 100 offspring, what does that say about the number of red-eyed offspring?

457 Provide evidence that this is a pedigree for an autosomal trait, and not a sex-linked trait.

458 Humans can be black, gray, or white.
 a. What type of inheritance does this demonstrate?
 b. Cross a black male with a white female. Determine the phenotypic percentages of their offspring.

459 Offspring can be black, white, or intermediate.
 a. What type of inheritance does this demonstrate?
 b. Cross a white chicken with a black chicken. Determine the phenotypic percentages of their offspring.

460 Human blood types are genetically determined by three alleles: I<sup>A</sup>, I<sup>B</sup>, and i. Type A and type B are codominant with each other, and i is recessive. A male has blood type AB and a female has blood type B. They have 10 children. Determine the phenotypic percentages of their offspring.

461 Which sex chromosomes of chromosomes determine human blood type? Explain why you think this is the case.

462 Human hair color can be wild-type black, and red, or intermediate. The gene for hair color is controlled by two chromosomes, one on the X and one on the Y.
 a. Cross a heterozygous wild-type male with a heterozygous female. Determine the phenotypic percentages of their offspring.

b. List all offspring phenotypes.
 c. Were any of the offspring blind? Why or why not?

Includes pedigrees and complex patterns of inheritance (X-linked, multiple alleles, codominance, incomplete dominance).
