

FIRST REPORT

OF THE

Young Men's Christian Association,

Presented Nov. 8th., 1844.

In presenting their first Report, the Committee of the "Young Men's Christian Association," are anxious to lay before this meeting as full, and at the same time as concise an account as possible, of its establishment, objects, and success.

The design of forming such an Association originated with our excellent friend who now occupies the chair (a). * It was first mentioned in conversation to a member of the Committee, who, acting upon the suggestion, spoke of it to some of the pious young men with whom he was acquainted. A meeting was the result of these conversations: it was held at 72, St. Paul's Churchyard, on June 6th, 1844. Those who composed that meeting formed themselves into a Committee; rules were adopted, officers elected, and the Society dates its institution from that meeting.

The object contemplated in the formation of this Association was "the introduction of religious services into the houses of business in the metropolis." Services had been established in the houses to which the Committee belonged, and the most beneficial results had followed.

(a) Mr. W. D. Owen, of Great Coram Street, who was also the founder of the Drapers' Institution, (a benefit society), and is Honorary Treasurer to the Metropolitan Drapers' Association.

* This is an error not the means of their reality of the refusing to be named

Rose,2017-02-13 During the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Americans with all sorts of disabilities came to be labeled as unproductive citizens Before that disabled people had contributed as they were able in homes on farms and in the wage labor market reflecting the fact that Americans had long viewed productivity as a spectrum that varied by age gender and ability But as Sarah F Rose explains in No Right to Be Idle a perfect storm of public policies shifting family structures and economic changes effectively barred workers with disabilities from mainstream workplaces and simultaneously cast disabled people as morally questionable dependents in need of permanent rehabilitation to achieve self care and self support By tracing the experiences of policymakers employers reformers and disabled people caught up in this epochal transition Rose masterfully integrates disability history and labor history She shows how people with disabilities lost access to paid work and the status of worker a shift that relegated them and their families to poverty and second class economic and social citizenship This has vast consequences for debates about disability work poverty and welfare in the century to come Reports of the Minister of Education Ontario.
