

2016 ANNUAL REPORT

A Message from Dale Beaty

It was basketball coaching legend John Wooden who said, "Don't measure yourself by what you have accomplished, but by what you should have accomplished with your ability."

Many fail to heed Coach Wooden's wisdom about not resting on their laurels, and that's one reason why more than half of all businesses fail within their first five years. The fact that the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation has been around for 97 years speaks to our drive for continuous improvement and our commitment to remain relevant to our members.

This annual report provides a snapshot of some of our successes over the past year. While I'm very proud of what we've already accomplished, I know we have the ability to be even better. Here are some of the programs and activities being worked on with an eye toward the future success of our organization.

A newly-formed Centennial Committee recently met for the first time to map out how WFBF will mark 100 years. During 2019, the focus will be on celebrating and honoring those who have brought us to where we are today; our history, traditions, and past successes. During 2020, the focus will be on our next 100 years and those who will lead us in the future. Committee members also recognize the importance of using our centennial celebrations as a way of building relationships with audiences outside of farming.

A 'play book' project is in the works which outlines the best Farm Bureau activities and events taking place on the county level. True to its mission, the newly-formed state Promotion and Education Committee wants to see these great ideas spread and take hold across Wisconsin's 61 county Farm Bureaus.

Another publication is in the works which focuses on Wisconsin's implements of husbandry law. WFBF's governmental relations team has been critical in pushing the passage of updates and improvements to the laws impacting farm machinery on roadways. This guide book is a continuation of the multi-year educational effort that WFBF staff have undertaken with UW-Extension and the Wisconsin Department of Transportation.

As a member, you are part of the lifeblood of Farm Bureau. Any successes highlighted in this annual report are due to you; our volunteer members and leaders working in your county and collegiate Farm Bureaus.

Farm Bureau is always looking for ways to maximize our ability to innovate and work smarter. You have my pledge that WFBF will continue providing the valuable legislative representation, education, public relations and leadership development you need to better yourself and your farm or agribusiness.

Thank you for your membership.
