The Increasing Risk of Floods and Tornadoes in Southern Africa Godwell Nhamo, Lazarus Chapungu, 2021-08-03

This volume discusses the increasing occurrence of floods and tornadoes in Southern Africa over the last few years. The book discusses existing flood and tornado management protocols, indigenous approaches to mitigate disaster risk, urban and peri-urban flooding, tornado-induced flooding and windstorms, and the challenges and vulnerabilities associated with rural and transboundary floods. The book offers planning and recovery strategies to minimise impacts from these events through sustainable means. Such means include sustainable drainage systems, waste management in harbors and beaches, community engagement in flood-prone areas, and improved food security measures in urban poor households. Annual Report South Africa. Department of Basic Education, 2016

Sustainability of Southern African Ecosystems under Global Change

Graham P. von Maltitz, Guy F. Midgley, Jennifer Veitch, Christian Brümmer, Reimund P. Rötter, Finn A. Viehberg, Maik Veste, 2024-01-05. This open access book about the sustainability of marine and terrestrial ecosystems in southern Africa provides a synthesis of the research program Science Partnerships for the Adaptation to Complex Earth System Processes SPACES II 2018-2022. It addresses the scientific, social, and economic issues related to climate change, its potential impacts on the various ecosystems, adaptations, and management interventions for enhancing systems resilience in Southern Africa. It is written by numerous scientists from African states and Germany and summarizes the latest research findings, which are of great relevance for a better understanding of climate change impacts, adaptations, and vulnerabilities, as well as for developing management options and policy options to reduce the associated risks. This is crucial considering that the projected African population increase is exceptional. Furthermore, climate change is assumed to hit southern Africa extremely hard, with a significant increase in extreme events and the frequency of severe droughts, heat waves, and flooding. Southern Africa hosts a high variety of ecosystems, which belongs to important biodiversity hotspots for unique flora and fauna. The surrounding oceans form, in turn, a bottle neck within the ocean's global thermohaline circulation, act as a still poorly understood carbon sink and source, and play an important role for fisheries as they are highly productive. Considering these important aspects, the book is an important interdisciplinary contribution to the scientific literature and will find a wide readership. The book is aimed at students, teachers, and scientists in the fields of terrestrial and marine ecology, environmental nature and landscape planning, agriculture, environmental and resource management, biodiversity, and nature conservation, as well as scientists and representatives in specialised authorities and associations, nature conservationists, and policy makers of related disciplines. Walmart in the Global South Carolina Bank Muñoz, Bridget Kenny, Antonio Stecher, 2018-05-02. As the largest private employer in the world, Walmart dominates media and academic debate about the global expansion of transnational retail corporations and the working conditions in retail operations and across the supply chain. Yet far from being a monolithic force conquering the world, Walmart must confront and adapt to diverse policies and practices pertaining to regulation economy history union organization preexisting labor cultures and civil society in every country into which it enters This transnational aspect of the Walmart story including the diversity and flexibility of its strategies and practices outside the United States is mostly unreported Walmart in the Global South presents empirical case studies of Walmart s labor practices and supply chain operations in a number of countries including Chile Brazil Argentina Nicaragua Mexico South Africa and Thailand It assesses the similarities and differences in Walmart s acceptance into varying national contexts which reveals when and how state regulation and politics have served to redirect company practice and to what effect Regulatory context state politics trade unions local cultures and global labor solidarity emerge as vectors with very different force around the world The volume s contributors show how and why foreign workers have successfully though not uniformly driven changes in Walmart s corporate culture This makes Walmart in the Global South a practical guide for organizations that promote social justice and engage in worker struggles including unions worker centers and other nonprofit entities

Charcoal, Food, and Water Production in the Tropics: Applying Nexus Thinking to Improve Research and Policy Approaches in Complex Landscapes Tuyeni Heita Mwampamba,Adrian Ghilardi,Rob Bailis,2020-02-04 Editorial Tuyeni H Mwampamba Rob Bailis Adrian Ghilardi Urbanization food and water consumption trends in many tropical countries show that demand for charcoal as a source of cooking energy meat grain and water will rise to proportions that surpass the ability of existing ecosystems to supply these services simultaneously and at desired qualities Consequently drastic changes to policy and practice are needed to improve ecosystem potential and or alter demand trends Traditional charcoal production in sub Saharan Africa South East Asia and Latin America often competes or co exists with livestock keeping and agriculture and has a tendency to occur in water limited woodlands The co occurrence of charcoal and food production results in complex landscapes characterized by strong interactions between subsystems managed by multiple sets of actors with potentially competing objectives These social ecological systems provide goods and services that are essential to millions of people throughout the global south Nevertheless there have been very few detailed studies of such systems particularly on the individual and combined effects of charcoal crop and livestock production on the hydrological system that maintains them and vice versa As a result these multi use landscapes are typically managed by short sighted highly generalized mono sectorial policies that ignore important tradeoffs and undercapitalize on synergies A system level approach could provide important insights that improve and expand current understanding of this energy food water nexus Tackling urgent and complex problems composed of multiple and interrelated factors lies at the heart of nexus thinking an approach that examines the inter relatedness and interdependencies of environmental resources and their transitions and fluxes across spatial scales and between compartments UNU FLORES 2015 and relies on interdisciplinary research and multi sector policy teams It has attracted significant interest from international organizations the private sector and governments as a way to develop integrated equitable solutions that involve inputs from multiple stakeholders However this approach is notably absent in the research arena Identifying appropriate interventions for achieving sustainable charcoal and food production and maintaining the underlying hydrological system on which they depend requires that the systems are considered simultaneously and that their biophysical social and political inter relations are well understood Taking charcoal as the nexus entry point this Research Topic aims to generate new understanding of charcoal production systems by incorporating agriculture and hydrology into the matrix We were interested in empirical articles reviews meta analytical articles and perspective papers that address at least two of the three nexus components and which offer provocative and insightful perspectives into the nexus as a whole We hope that this Research Topic will 1 facilitate identification of research gaps policy opportunities and priorities for the nexus 2 kick start the development of a community of researchers and practitioners working on the nexus and 3 permit the development of a research agenda that explores the nexus globally across multiple study sites

Human Resources Development Review 2008 Andre Kraak, Karen Press, 2008 Through 25 chapters authored by some of the leading researchers in the field the Human Resources Development Review 2008 provides an extensive overview of the contextual factors driving human resources development in South Africa A key theme throughout the volume is the importance of a multi faceted skills development strategy operating at three levels The first entails high skills policies aimed at expanding export oriented manufacturing production and services provision particularly in new globally competitive niche areas The second relates to the economy s ongoing need for intermediate skills as is evident in the shortage of skilled artisans and technologists Finally the provision of basic entry level skills is important in view of the urgent need for large scale job creation schemes triggered by public sector initiatives to ameliorate high levels of unemployment and despondency especially amongst the youth
