

Writing Research Paper Introductions

Purpose of Research Paper Introduction: The introduction leads the reader from a general research issue or problem to your specific area of research. It puts your research question in context by explaining the significance of the research being conducted. This is usually done by summarizing current understanding (research to date) and background information about the topic. This is followed by a statement of the purpose of your research issue or problem. This is sometimes followed by a hypothesis or a set of questions you attempt to answer in your research. You may also explain your methodology (how you will research this issue) and explain what your study can reveal. It also may contain a summary of the structure of the rest of the paper.

Questions Answered in the Research Paper Introduction: Think of the introduction as a mental road map that answers these four questions:

1. What am I studying?
2. Why is this topic important to investigate?
3. What do we already know about this topic or what have other experts discovered about the topic?
4. How will my research advance new knowledge or new ways of understanding?

Components of the Research Paper Introduction:

Component #1: Establish the problem or issue you want to research:

- Highlight the importance of the problem/issue, and/or
- Make general statements about the problem/issue, and/or
- Present an overview on current research on the issue or problem.

Component #2: Provide an overview of existing thinking about and/or research into your research problem.

Component #3: Identify a gap, problems or unresolved issues in the existing knowledge/research that your research can fill or identify a research focus that will be useful:

- “The previous research has mistakenly assumed that....” or “Although most experts in the field believe ....., they have overlooked ...”
- “None of the previous research has examined .....”
- “Despite prior observations of voter behavior in local elections in urban Detroit, it remains unclear why do some single mothers choose to avoid...” and/or
