| Term                      | Definition   | Example   |
|---------------------------|--|---|
| Appeal to Ignorance       | Uses lack of evidence as the basis of the argument. If something can't be disproven, then it must be true.   | "No one who used my homemade shampoo has ever had an allergic reaction, so it must be hypoallergenic".  |
| Hasty Generalization      | when a conclusion is drawn from a sample that is too small or selective to assume with any confidence that it represents the subject accurately.   | Charmaine is from Jamaica and has locs. Everyone from Jamaica has locs.   |
| Post Hoc Ergo Propter Hoc | Assuming that because B follows A, A must have caused B. Some things just happen due to coincidence and the two things really having nothing to do with each other.  | Carly tells Sam she doesn't like his cologne. The next day Sam doesn't pick Carly for a work promotion. This was not because of her remark about his cologne, it was because Carly has been late to work everyday the past month.   |
| Either/Or                 | An either/or fallacy does not acknowledge that opposing claims could both be true, that grey areas may exist between the two alternatives, or that other possibilities exist.  | Broccoli or carrots are the best healthy options to give your children.(What about other options like Kale, fruit, spinach, etc)?   |
| Composition               | Putting two or more "good" things together does not necessarily mean they will be good together. This fallacy looks at something from two perspectives: as a whole, and made up of parts. The argument is if something is true about the parts, then it is true about the whole. | Andy, Tiffani, Leah, and Carlos are the best fashion designers in my state. I will hire all 4 off them to design my wedding dress together.-This doesn't mean the dress will come out beautiful, because the designers will have their own creative view of how they want to style it). |
