subject Literature Medieval Literature grade 1st University of Chester course MA History language English abstract Using fictional and factual literature the dissertation attempts to understand the multiplicity of masculinity and individual knightly motivations caused by competing factual and fictional depictions of chivalry Overall histories of chivalry and masculinity between c 1350 c 1410 in France have been treated singularly The ideal qualities of chivalry have been treated as the reality for all knights when in fact chivalric ideologies were unique to individuals and overlapped in both factual and fictional literature of the period Chivalry in the Middle Ages has often been defined as the religious and moral system of behavior that the perfect knight was expected to follow However singular definitions of chivalry should be disregarded because displays of medieval masculinity and chivalry were a complicated mixture of social conditions institutional influence and individual motivation
