The Energy Wise Workplace Jeff Dondero,2017-05-19 Most people spend a good deal of time and a little more than half of their energy money and resources in an effort to make their homes more efficient for both themselves and the planet But five days a week nearly all of America goes to work and some spend almost as much time at their place of work as they do at home With more than 30 million of these workplaces are small businesses and 18 500 firms of 500 employees or more the workplace is largely responsible for the other half of the consumption of resources in the United States More and more people are becoming progressively interested and committed to contributing to the health and greening of their workplace as well as the world at large Although many people desire to do their part and play a role in the conservation of energy and resources at their workplace most think that it is harder to conserve at work due to circumstances beyond their control and aren't aware of how which or in what ways they can contribute to change In order to inspire workers to engage in the lowering of the company's carbon footprint a company must know how to improve and implement change Jeff Dondero tackles topics such as reorganizing thoughts about traditional ways of supervising employees alternatives for offsetting carbon footprints environmental effects businesses have on cities smarter practices for recycling and how to effectively use and audit resources The Energy Wise Workplace provides practical suggestions and innovative ways for increasing the environmental and technological aspects of an efficient office as well as improving productivity and work environment to keep employees happy and healthy and at the same time saving money Therefore whether you re a worker or the queen bee green is the new black Demystifying Carbon Markets Michiel Arnoldus,Roger Bymolt,2011 Setting up a social and environmentally sustainable business is hard work Most entrepreneurs struggle to raise investment capital and make a small profit Carbon credits can be a welcome source of additional revenue for those businesses and projects that reduce greenhouse gas emissions But where do you start Practical information that is easy to apply to your specific situation is hard to find The information you can find is often either too general or full of complicated terminology Hiring an expert is risky without an indication of whether you will be able to earn the money back As a result many entrepreneurs are discouraged and never properly explore the possibilities of carbon credits or get stuck somewhere in the process This book is a beginner s guide for entrepreneurs who want to assess whether they can generate additional revenue with carbon credits It provides a concise overview of the basics of carbon credits with a minimum of jargon and illustrated with practical examples from real cases Topics include What are carbon credits What are the basic requirements for a business or project to produce carbon credits Where and how are they sold What are the current prices and what influences these Who are the different players in the industry and what do they do What are the different steps in the development of a carbon offset project How do I choose a certification standard How can I estimate the amount of carbon credits and revenue I can generate This book addresses these questions in a way that is relevant to a wide variety of project types Particular attention is given to the challenges of smaller projects in developing countries as well as forestry agroforestry and biofuel projects
