The American Psychiatric Association Publishing Textbook of Suicide Risk Assessment and Management Liza H. Gold, Richard L. Frierson, 2020-03-08 Charged with updating the preeminent text on suicide the new editors of The American Psychiatric Association Publishing Textbook of Suicide Risk Assessment and Management opted not to simply revise existing chapters but instead to steer a bold course expanding reconfiguring and remaking the third edition to reflect the latest research nomenclature and clinical innovations The editorial team and contributors two thirds of whom are new to this edition have taken the intersection of suicide with both mental health and psychosocial issues as their organizing principle exploring risk assessment and epidemiology in special populations such as elderly patients college students military personnel and the incarcerated as well as patients with a variety of psychological disorders including bipolar spectrum personality depressive anxiety posttraumatic stress and other disorders and schizophrenia In addition the book discusses treatment options such as cognitive behavioral therapy dialectical behavioral therapy and pharmacotherapy and settings such as emergency services outpatient inpatient and civil commitment in detail with clinical cases to contextualize the material The new and revised content is extensive A chapter on the influence of sleep and sleep disorders on suicide risk has been included that considers possible mechanisms for this link and discusses practical ways of assessing and managing sleep disorders to mitigate suicide risk Nonsuicidal self injury the prevalence of which is particularly high among youth is addressed in detail differentiating it from and comparing it to suicide attempts discussing risk assessment considering safety interventions examining treatment options and exploring suicide contagion No text on suicide would be complete without a serious exploration of the role of social media and the internet The book presents an update on current research as it pertains to social networking and behavior information access and artificial intelligence and software and includes suggestions for clinicians treating patients at risk for suicide Physician assisted dying PAD also referred to as aid in dying is arguably a form of suicide and the book includes a thoughtful chapter considering the ethical and practical implications of PAD the murky professional and legal obligations that may arise the demographics of these patients the settings and conditions under which PAD may occur and the role of the attendant clinicians A number of pedagogical features are included to help the reader learn and remember the material including key clinical concepts and abundant case examples Its diverse range of perspectives broad relevance to a wide variety of clinicians and absolutely authoritative coverage makes this new edition of The American Psychiatric Association Publishing Textbook of Suicide Risk Assessment and Management a worthy and indispensable successor

Intellectual Teamwork Jolene Galegher, Robert E. Kraut, Carmen

Egido,2014-01-14 This book seeks to establish an interdisciplinary applied social scientific model for researchers and students that advocates a cooperative effort between machines and people After showing that basic research on social processes offers much needed guidance for those creating technology and designing tools for group work its papers demonstrate the mutual relevance of social science and information system design and encourage better integration of these disciplines This comprehensive collection closely examines the variety of electronic tools being deployed to solve traditional problems in communication and coordination Unfortunately research shows that these tools have not been as successful as their designers had envisioned partially because they were not always produced with the needs and goals of their human users in mind The editors goal is to entice more social scientists to orient their research around questions of practical interest to information system designers and to convince designers to search for the knowledge about social and organizational behavior that would make their tools more useful

Technologies in Palliative Care for Older People Amara Callistus Nwosu,Sarah Stanley,James Norris,Mark Taubert,2025-11-24 This book provides a comprehensive overview of palliative care digital health by covering current developments methodology clinical relevance research priorities ethical issues and policy related to technological innovations for those with serious illness This type of book does not currently exist in the literature as previous work primarily focuses on digital health for early identification of disease and facilitating self care or aging in place practices This book addresses the lack of focus on digital health for people with palliative care needs This book has a special focus on the needs of individuals as their health worsens throughout their illness. Consequently, the reader will benefit from this book's focus on the science, methodology, application, and practicality of digital health developments in palliative care. This book explores the barriers that prevent the meaningful use of digital health in palliative care, including expenses, interoperability issues, data privacy and security concerns, lack of effectiveness and equity, and the concern that technology may reduce face-to-face consultations between patients and clinicians. There is an overall lack of consensus about digital health research priorities in palliative care and a lack of theories about how these technologies might improve care outcomes. Therefore, this book emphasizes the importance of identifying, discussing, and debating how technological innovations can be meaningfully used to ensure that frail people have appropriate access to palliative care services. Consequently, this book begins the conversation about articulating digital health research priorities in palliative care to determine how finite resources should be allocated to a field saturated with rapidly developing innovation.
