Neuro-Systemic Applications in Learning Kennedy Andrew Thomas, Joseph Varghese Kureethara, Siddhartha Bhattacharyya, 2021-09-01 Neuroscience research deals with the physiology biochemistry anatomy and molecular biology of neurons and neural circuits and especially their association with behavior and learning Of late neuroscience research is playing a pivotal role in industry science writing government program management science advocacy and education In the process of learning as experiencing knowledge the human brain plays a vital role as the central governing system to map the images of learning in the human brain which may be called educational neuroscience It provides means to develop a common language and bridge the gulf between educators psychologists and neuroscientists The emerging field of educational neuroscience presents opportunities as well as challenges for education especially when it comes to assess the learning disorders and learning intentions of the students The most effective learning involves recruiting multiple regions of the brain for the learning task These regions are associated with such functions as memory the various senses volitional control and higher levels of cognitive functioning By considering biological factors research has advanced the understanding of specific learning difficulties such as dyslexia and dyscalculia Likewise neuroscience is uncovering why certain types of learning are more rewarding than others Of late a lot of research has gone in the field of neural networks and deep learning It is worthwhile to consider these research areas in investigating the interplay between the human brain and human formal natural learning This book is intended to bring together the recent advances in neuroscience research and their influence on the evolving learning systems with special emphasis on the evolution of a learner centric framework in outcome based education by taking into cognizance the learning abilities and intentions of the learners Effects of Game and Game-like Training on Neurocognitive Plasticity Guido P. H. Band, Chandramallika Basak, Heleen A. Slagter, Michelle W.

Voss, 2016-05-17 Cognitive training is not always effective This is also the case for the form of cognitive training that this Research Topic focuses on prolonged performance on game like cognitive tasks The ultimate goal of this cognitive training is to improve ecologically valid target functions For example cognitive training should help children with ADHD to stay focused at school or help older adults to manage the complexity of daily life However so far this goal has proven too ambitious Transfer from trained to non trained tasks is not even guaranteed in a laboratory so there is a strong need for understanding how when and for how long cognitive training has effect Which cognitive functions are amenable to game training for whom and how Are there mediating factors for success such as motivation attention or age Are the improvements real or can they be attributed to nonspecific factors such as outcome expectancy or demand characteristics Are there better strategies to improve cognitive functions through game training This Research Topic of Frontiers in Human Neuroscience charts current insights in the determinants of success of game training National Journal, 2003 The Business of Sports Mark Conrad, 2017-02-17 The Business of Sports provides a comprehensive foundation of the economic organizational legal and political components of the sports industry Geared for journalism communication and business students but also an excellent resource for those working in sports this text introduces readers to the ever increasing complexity of an industry that is in constant flux Now in its third edition the volume continues to offer a wealth of statistics and case studies up to date with the newest developments in sports business and focused on cutting edge issues and topics including the many changes in international sports and the role of analytics in decision making and tax rules that have a major effect on athletes and teams

Associations between Reading and Mathematics: Genetic, Brain Imaging, Cognitive and Educational Perspectives Sarit Ashkenazi, Orly Rubinsten, Bert De Smedt, 2017-10-05 Converging evidence demonstrates a strong link between reading and mathematics multiple cognitive processes are shared between reading and mathematics including the representation and retrieval of symbolic information attention working memory and cognitive control Additionally multiple brain networks are involved in both math and reading and last common genetic factors might influence both reading and math Hence it comes as no surprise that there are meaningful associations between aspects of math and reading abilities Moreover comorbidity rates between math learning disabilities MD and reading disabilities RD are high up to 66% and prevalence rate of the comorbid condition is reported to be more common than the prevalence rate of isolated math learning disabilities Accordingly the goal of the research topic is to explore the underline mechanisms of this overlap between reading and math The research topic aims to include the following topics Genetics it has been found that both RD and MD are based on genetic factors and run in families Moreover math problem solving shares significant genetic overlap with general cognitive ability and reading decoding whereas math fluency shares significant genetic overlap with reading fluency and general cognitive ability Hence this topic will explore the shared and unique genetic risk factors to RD and MD In addition to shared and unique genetic influence on reading and math Neural perspective converging evidence from both structural and multiple functional imaging studies involving a wide range of numerical tasks points to the intraparietal sulcus IPS as a core region that involve in quantity manipulation However several additional brain areas such as frontoparietal and temporoparietal areas were found to be involved in numerical tasks Individuals with MD show deficits in a distributed set of brain regions that include the IPS fusiform gyrus in posterior brain regions and pre frontal cortex regions Similarly converging evidence indicate that the left hemisphere regions centered in the fusiform gyrus temporoparietal cortex and pre frontal cortex regions are strongly involve in typical reading and present lower activity connectivity or abnormal structure in RD Thus there is a meaningful neural overlap between reading and math Hence the authors can submit empirical studies on the role of several of brain regions that are involved in math and reading commonality and diversity both in the typical and a typical development Cognitive factors that play role in mathematics and reading and comorbidity between RD and MD There is a long lasting debate whether MD and RD originate from unique cognitive mechanisms or not Multiple cognitive processes are shared between reading and mathematics Therefore impairments in any one of domain general skills could conceivably play an important role in both pure and comorbid conditions Moreover it has been suggested that phonological processing has a significant role in some aspects of numerical processing such as retrieval of arithmetical facts Education it will be interesting to look at the effect of interventions that aim to improve reading such as phonological awareness and there transfer effect on improving mathematical processing Alternatively it will be good to test whether math interventions will improve reading
