Prior Knowledge Questions (Do these BEFORE using the Gizmo.)

[Note: The purpose of these questions is to activate prior knowledge and get students thinking. Students are not expected to know the answers to the Prior Knowledge Questions.]

- Imagine a white lizard and a brown lizard sitting on a brown rock. A hawk is circling overhead hunting for its next meal. Which lizard do you think the hawk would most likely try to catch? Explain your choice.

Answers will vary. [The hawk will most likely try to catch the white lizard because it is not as well camouflaged as the brown lizard.]

- Now imagine that the same two lizards were sitting on a dune of white sand. Which lizard do you think the hawk would then most likely try to catch? Why?

Answers will vary. [The hawk will most likely try to catch the brown lizard in this case because it is not as well camouflaged as the white lizard.]

Gizmo Warm-up

How long could a parrot survive in Antarctica? It would probably not survive long. Parrots do not have adaptations—or helpful characteristics—to survive icy cold weather. Because of this, a parrot is not fit for Antarctica. Fitness describes how well an organism can survive and reproduce in an environment.

In the Evolution: Mutation and Selection Gizmo™, you will see how a species' fitness can change over time as it becomes better adapted to its environment.

- On the SIMULATION pane, what is the Average fitness of the population? 50%
- On the CONTROLS pane, experiment with the Background color sliders.
 - Which background color results in the highest fitness? $R = 255, G = 255, B = 255$
 - Which background color results in the lowest fitness? $R = 0, G = 0, B = 0$

Evolution by Natural Selection ,2006 Natural Selection in the Wild John A. Endler,1986-04-21 Natural selection is an immense and important subject yet there have been few attempts to summarize its effects on natural populations and fewer still which discuss the problems of working with natural selection in the wild These are the purposes of John Endler's book In it he discusses the methods and problems involved in the demonstration and measurement of natural selection presents the critical evidence for its existence and places it in an evolutionary perspective Professor Endler finds that there are a remarkable number of direct demonstrations of selection in a wide variety of animals and plants The distribution of observed magnitudes of selection in natural populations is surprisingly broad and it overlaps extensively the range of values found in artificial selection He argues that the common assumption that selection is usually weak in natural populations is no longer tenable but that natural selection is only one component of the process of evolution natural selection can explain the change of frequencies of variants but not their origins Contributions to the Theory of Natural Selection Alfred Russel Wallace,2003 Contributions to the Theory of Natural Selection Alfred Russel Wallace,1870 Evolution by Natural Selection Chauncey Wright,1872 Evolution by natural selection Charles Darwin,1958 Evolution by Natural Selection The Science Foundation Course Team,1971 Evolution by Natural Selection.
