Alphard: Form and Content Mary Shaw, 2012-12-06 Alphard is a design for a programming system that supports the abstraction and verification techniques required by modern program ming methodology During the language design process we were concerned simultaneously with problems of methodology correctness and efficiency Methodological concerns are addressed through facilities for defining new task specific abstractions that capture complex notions in terms of their intended properties without explicating them in terms of specific low level implementations Techniques for verifying certain properties of these programs address the correctness concerns Finally the language has been designed to permit compilation to efficient object code Although a compiler was not implemented the research shed light on specification issues and on programming methodology an abstraction specifying its behavior Alphard language constructs allow a programmer to isolate publicly while localizing knowledge about its implementation The verification of such an abstraction consists of showing that its implementation behaves in accordance with the public specification Given such a verification the abstraction may be used with confidence to construct higher level more abstract programs The most common kind of abstraction in Alphard corresponds to what is now called an abstract data type An abstract data type comprises a set of values for elements of the type and a set of operations on those values A new language construct the form provides a way to encapsulate the definitions of data structures and operations in such a way that only public information could be accessed by the rest of the program

Interactive Learning Through Visualization Steve Cunningham,Roger J. Hubbard,2012-12-06 This book contains a selection of papers presented at the Computer Graphics and Education 91 Conference held from 4th to 6th April 1991 in Begur Spain The conference was organised under the auspices of the International Federation for Information Processing IPIP Working Group 5 10 on Computer Graphics The goal of the organisers was to take a forward look at the impact on education of anticipated developments in graphics and related technologies such as multimedia in the next five years We felt that at a time when many educational establishments are facing financial stringency and when major changes are taking place in patterns of education and training this could be valuable for both educators and companies developing the technology for educators because they are often too bogged down in day to day problems to undertake adequate forward planning and for companies to see some of the problems faced by educators and to see what their future requirements might be
