Wearable Sensor Technology for Monitoring Training Load and Health in the Athletic Population Billy Sperlich, Hans-Christer Holmberg, Kamiar Aminian, 2020-02-13 Several internal and external factors have been identified to estimate and control the psychobiological stress of training in order to optimize training responses and to avoid fatigue, overtraining, and other undesirable health effects of an athlete. An increasing number of lightweight sensor-based wearable technologies (wearables) have entered the sports technology market. Non-invasive sensor-based wearable technologies could transmit physical, physiological, and biological data to a computing platform and may provide through human-machine interaction (smart watch, smartphone, tablet) bio-feedback of various parameters for training load management and health. However, in theory, several wearable technologies may assist to control training load, but the assessment of accuracy, reliability, validity, usability, and practical relevance of new upcoming technologies for the management of training load is paramount for optimal adaptation and health.

Translation, interpreting, cognition Tra&Co Group, 2021 Cognitive aspects of the translation process have become central in Translation and Interpreting Studies in recent years, further establishing the field of Cognitive Translatology. Empirical and interdisciplinary studies investigating translation and interpreting processes promise a hitherto unprecedented predictive and explanatory power. This collection contains such studies which observe behaviour during translation and interpreting. The contributions cover a vast area and investigate behaviour during translation and interpreting with a focus on training of future professionals on language processing, more generally on the role of technology in the practice of translation and interpreting, on translation of multimodal media texts, on aspects of ergonomics and usability, on emotions, self-concept, and psychological factors, and finally also on revision and post-editing. For the present publication, we selected a number of contributions presented at the Second International Congress on Translation, Interpreting, and Cognition, hosted by the Tra Co Lab at the Johannes Gutenberg University of Mainz.
