A Cold Colonialism Tina Adcock, 2025-06-01 Exploration has long been pivotal to southern engagements with northern Canada but it is most often associated with the nineteenth century or earlier A Cold Colonialism offers the first extended examination of twentieth century exploration in the Canadian North Modern exploration helped southerners establish and maintain distinctive kinds of colonial and settler colonial power over northern Indigenous homelands Who explored the North between 1918 and 1965 What forms did exploration take What did it mean to explorers and others affected by it Tina Adcock focuses on four representative explorers with richly documented careers mining engineer George Douglas surveyor Guy Blanchet ethnologist Vilhjalmur Stefansson and filmmaker Richard Finnie Despite limited experience in and knowledge of the Canadian North these explorers helped southern militaries industries and governments exert control over northern peoples and their lands Each also claimed belonging in and authority over the North in ways that still resonate among southern settlers in Canada today

Memory and Landscape Kenneth L. Pratt, Scott A. Heyes, 2022-10-18 The North is changing at an unprecedented rate as industrial development and the climate crisis disrupt not only the environment but also long standing relationships to the land and traditional means of livelihood Memory and Landscape Indigenous Responses to a Changing North explores the ways in which Indigenous peoples in the Arctic have adapted to challenging circumstances including past cultural and environmental changes In this beautifully illustrated volume contributors document how Indigenous communities in Alaska northern Canada Greenland and Siberia are seeking ways to maintain and strengthen their cultural identity while also embracing forces of disruption Indigenous and non Indigenous contributors bring together oral history and scholarly research from disciplines such as linguistics archaeology and ethnohistory With an emphasis on Indigenous place names this volume illuminates how the land and the memories that are inextricably tied to it continue to define Indigenous identity The perspectives presented here also serve to underscore the value of Indigenous knowledge and its essential place in future studies of the Arctic Contributions by Vinnie Baron Hugh Brody Kenneth Buck Anna Bunce Donald Butler Michael A Chenlov Aron L Crowell Peter C Dawson Martha Dowsley Robert Drozda Gary Holton Colleen Hughes Peter Jacobs Emily Kearney Williams Igor Krupnik Apayo Moore Murielle Nagy Mark Nuttall Evon Peter Louann Rank William E Simeone Felix St Aubin and Will Stolz

Globalisation and Services-driven Economic Growth Niels Beerepoot, Bart Lambregts, Jana Kleibert, 2016-07-28 Following drastic shifts in the spatial organization of goods production increasingly fierce competition now forces firms also to look critically at how to organize the production of services While digitization and advances in information and communication technologies have enabled firms to unbundle service production processes the increased global availability of skilled labour allows for the relocation of ever more of these processes around the world As a result a new geography of services production takes shape a geography that is defined by new interregional and international divisions of labour and held together by increasingly complex global services production networks This book examines how the reorganisation of services production alters relations between and generates different sets of challenges and opportunities for economic development in the Global North and the Global South Drawing from 11 case studies probing various aspects of services production in different parts of the world the book brings out the remarkable heterogeneity and transformative capacities of services It successively shows how global trade in services creates new interdependencies between services producing and services consuming regions reveals how services help to mitigate the impact of and contribute to recovery from economic crises in the Global North and demonstrates how services offshoring fosters economic development and service sector driven modernisation processes in the Global South The book s openness to the heterogeneous and dynamic nature of services production enlarges our understanding of which particular services in which spatiotemporal context have the capacity to generate good jobs contribute to productivity and drive economic growth The book stands out from other books in the field in that it combines perspectives on services driven transformations from both the Global North and the Global South and looks into the role of various services segments Based on pioneering empirical research and original data it offers a timely contribution to this growing debate The book provides valuable insights for students scholars and professionals interested in services services offshoring services driven growth and socioeconomic transformations in the Global North and South
