Or would you get them on the court and have them play? In basketball, the answer is easy: BAD. You do both. So why teach politics only as a spectator sport? Senator Bob Graham believes that students should expand on their classroom learning about the political system; he spurs them to hit the court and actually play the game. If students work on an issue they care about, politics will become a meaningful and positive experience. This short how-to guide takes students out of theoretical discussions of policy and into a world where they can affect change. Graham BAD's goal is to have students identify a problem and then walk them through each step, from researching the issue to getting others involved, to engaging the media. Each chapter starts with a real case showing citizens tackling a step in the process and ends with a summary checklist and a series of questions that help students put Graham BAD's game plan in action. By offering students concrete guidance, an array of resources, and advice for troubleshooting and overcoming barriers,
