

Gender Identity Research Paper

Gender Identity we might ask ourselves? Gender identity is our personal sense of what our own gender is. How a person feels and who they know themselves to be when it comes to their gender. Most of us were taught that there are only two genders man or women and two sexes male and female. However, there is a lot more to it than you might think. There are many different gender identities, including male, female, transgender, gender neutral, agender, pangender, third gender, and alot more. Even though in our society the genders that are usually more common based on someone's anatomy, which is the genitals they were born with.

There are many types of gender people feel that they personally fall on the scale between male and female. Most commonly people identify as male or female, but some fall in the middle or move throughout the scale. Some types of gender are male to female is when somebody that is assigned as a male at birth identifies as a female. Female to male is when somebody that is assigned as a female at birth identifies as a male. Gender fluid is moving between genders or having a fluctuating gender identity. Agender means not identifying with any gender. And there is still so much more to name but these are just some types.

Gender roles often tend to develop or start off in toddlers and children by certain ages. On or before their third birthday most all children can easily label themselves as either a girl or boy. By age four most children have a strong feeling of their gender identity. Throughout the time of, children learn gender role behavior, by learning 'things that boys do' or 'things that girls do.' The point is that all children learn to develop a clear view of themselves and their gender over time. Spectators have a tendency to judge little kids and how they act based on their gender.

More teenagers are not fitting into the usual genders (male or female) as they were before and that percentage is growing more and more. A study research a postdoctoral named Rider at the University of Minnesota's Program in Human Sexuality. For their research, Rider's team examined data from a 2016 survey of almost 81,000 Minnesota and asked the students in a school from grades 9th and 11th grades a question. "Do you consider yourself transgender, genderqueer, gender-fluid or unsure of your gender identification?" About 2.7% answered yes to the question. That number is higher than researchers expected. That's a big difference from the UCLA study, which was published in January 2017 and estimated that 0.7% of American teens ages 13 to 17 see them selfs as transgender. Rider's study is only in the state of Minnesota's but she is hoping to increase this study around the nation to get more accurate information.

Majority of people think that gender identity is the same thing as sexual orientation or sex and gender areas well but they are not. Gender identity is our personal feeling of what our own gender is eit

Psychosocial Risks and Health at Work from a Gender Perspective: A

Current Overview Eva Cifre, María Vera, 2019-10-14

Families in Transition Arlene I. Lev, Andrew R. Gottlieb, 2019-04-16

Families in Transition Parenting Gender Diverse Children Adolescents and Young Adults is a compilation of clinically oriented articles research and case material authored by mental health and medical experts both nationally and internationally known as well as first person narratives written by parents and families exploring the complexities faced by parents and caretakers attending to the needs of their children in a largely hostile world The professional articles are positioned side by side with the voices of the parents themselves each complementing the other together adding up to a richly complex original tapestry

While most books on this subject highlight the experiences of the gender diverse child and adolescent parents perspectives are placed front and center Those raising these children and adolescents have unique struggles and personal processes as caregivers and advocates Making complex social and medical decisions in a society that is hostile and polarized only complicates the picture This book highlights their rarely heard voices and gives insight to therapists and physicians on how to support all members of the family helping them grow and heal during what is often a challenging time Families in Transition Challenges the ways we think about cultural norms and how those impact our clinical work Explores a parent's desire for their child to live authentically alongside a desire to protect them Highlights how the attitudes and behaviors of extended relatives impact the gender nonconforming child and their caretakers Presents a historical overview contrasting the reparative and the affirmative models of treatment Illustrates how difficult treatment can be when a patient is reticent to disclose their gender identity to their parents or when parents either have little information or are in denial Offers strategies on how best to advocate for a child in a school setting Outlines best practices for the care of transgender youth This text is designed for mental health professionals clinicians educators and researchers medical providers parents and caretakers of gender diverse children adolescents and young adults and is suitable for graduate and doctoral level coursework in a range of subject areas including gender sexuality and family studies

Trans Experiences - A Research Report for Trans

Communities and their Allies Eva C. Moser, 2013 Trans communities are in the headlines Everybody has an opinion on what transsexuality is But how do trans people themselves describe being trans This community based study examined this question Findings include that the diversity and complexity of people's experience by far exceeds what is commonly acknowledged Physical embodiment and social acceptance are important to trans people but the most unifying themes are self finding self realization and spirituality Experiences described cover a wide range They can in fact be mutually exclusive This suggests that any simplistic one fits all explanation will be oppressive to at least some trans people In a sad twist the research finds that trans people who challenge the clinical model of transsexuality the most are also the ones who most likely will not participate in clinical studies thus guaranteeing that much of the diversity within communities remains hidden except by community based research like the one at hand

Sex and the Brain Gillian Einstein, 2007-10-19 A collection of foundational texts on the nature and behavioral consequences of sex differences in the brain allowing readers to follow the development of a rapidly growing but contentious field and giving them the tools to analyze emerging scientific findings from many perspectives This collection of foundational papers on sex differences in the brain traces the development of a much invoked fast growing young field at the intersection of brain and behavior The reader is introduced to the meaning and nature of sexual dimorphisms the mechanisms and consequences of steroid hormone action and the impact of the field on interpretations of sexuality and gender Building on each other in point counterpoint fashion the papers tell a fascinating story of an emerging science working out its core assumptions Experimental and theoretical papers woven together by editor s introductions open a window onto knowledge in the making and a vigorous debate between reductionist and pluralist interpreters Five major sections include papers on conceptual and methodological background central nervous system dimorphisms mechanisms for creating dimorphisms dimorphisms and cognition and dimorphisms and identity Each section builds from basic concepts to early experiments from experimental models to humans and from molecules to mind Papers by such leading scholars as Arthur Arnold Frank Beach Anne Fausto Sterling Patricia Goldman Rakic Doreen Kimura Simon LeVay Bruce McEwen Michael Merzenich Bertram O Malley Geoffrey Raisman and Dick Swaab illustrate a rich blend of perspectives approaches methods and findings Sex and the Brain will show students how a scientific paper can be analyzed from many perspectives and supply them with critical tools for judging a rapidly emerging science in a contentious area

Gender Identity Work Kathryn G. O'Brien, 2017 The purpose of this research was to critically examine the gender identity work of white transgender and other gender non conforming identified TgNCi people through their stories and the meanings they attach to important artifacts across the lifespan A single question directed the investigation How do TgNCi individuals describe gender identity work through lifespan narratives Thirteen volunteers participated in two interviews the first a narration of their life stories and in the second descriptions of the significance of personal artifacts selected by the participants and photographed by the investigator Participants ages ranged from 22 to 66 according to four pre determined age ranges of the study design This allowed for investigation within each age group and also across all age groups Qualitative analyses were conducted in three layers 1 content analysis 2 Critical Discourse Analysis and 3 multimodal analysis Content analysis identified three primary categories describing gender identity work 1 oppression from outside 2 suppression of preferred gender expression and 3 the desire for visibility longing to be recognized by others and to see the self as Who I Am Critical Discourse Analysis revealed that in response to violent oppression participants interrupted their natural agentic actions speech and thought processes The term Interrupted Agency was coined to convey these strategic responses of hiding and secrecy Multimodal analysis of participants expressed relationships with material objects exposed three primary functions of the artifacts 1 tools of visibility 2 messengers and 3 laminations The closing discussion features the researcher s meaning making of this gender identity work and addresses future study and research
