

Writing an Autobiography for a Scholarship Application

The Writing Process

1. Visualize your audience.
 - a. Think about who will read your autobiography.
 - b. Put yourself in the reader's place.
2. Think about the purpose of the autobiography.
 - a. Why do members of the scholarship committee want to know something about you?
 - b. How would an autobiography help them decide which applicants deserve scholarships?
3. Generate ideas for your autobiography. See the section of this handout that lists brainstorming ideas.
4. Write a rough draft of your autobiography.
 - a. Select a format for your autobiography.
 - b. Don't worry at this point about grammar, spelling, punctuation, etc.
5. Revise your autobiography after a cooling-off period.
 - a. Check the order of your paper. Is the information logically ordered?
 - b. Is all the information relevant to the purpose of the autobiography?
 - c. Have you been honest but positive about yourself?
 - d. Do you need to add more information?
 - e. Read the paper aloud to check sentence sense.
6. Type a clean copy of the autobiography and edit what you have written.

Characteristics That Will Improve Your Paper

1. Use language that is direct, clear, and sounds like you. However, avoid slang and overused expressions.
2. Create a tone that shows confidence, but not arrogance; sincerity, not stuffiness.
3. When appropriate, connect sentences with expressions like "then," "in addition," "finally," "in contrast," so that one idea seems to move logically into the next.

Brainstorming Questions

Write answers to these questions to get ideas for your autobiography.

1. What academic accomplishments are you proud of?

Life Writing as World Literature Helga Lenart-Cheng, Ioana Luca, 2025-05-01 A global array of contributors explore the interplay between translation and circulation mediums and materialities and aesthetics and politics in how life writing is shaped by and becomes world literature We live in the age of popular self representation in that most people around the globe either produce or consume autobiographical material memoirs selfies blogs etc The current volume investigates this global phenomenon and examines how life writing and world literature converge Why do some personal stories get picked up translated circulated and taught in classrooms while others remain moored in local waters Do autobiographical stories that travel widely have something in common about them Or is it the other way around is it our notion of world literature that imposes uniform expectations on these diverse texts And what can we gain from studying these two fields in conjunction Life Writing as World Literature brings together experts who map regional and local autobiographical traditions from six continents These scholars explore the dynamic interplay between local and global aesthetics and sociopolitical concerns presenting case studies that include prison narratives from communist regimes Japanese diaries multilingual Caribbean memoirs Indian auto biographical comics and stories by Taiwanese domestic workers To understand how and why some personal stories enter global dissemination contributors inquire into translation market mechanisms and circulation patterns while also exploring the affordances of new media and materialities when recording contemporary lives Life Writing as World Literature brings a fresh perspective to both fields world literature and life writing opening up exciting avenues of research
