Twenty-First Century Military Innovation Marcus Schulzke,2022-09-07 Contemporary war is as much a quest for decisive technological organizational and doctrinal superiority before the fighting starts as it is an effort to destroy enemy militaries during battle Armed forces that are not actively fighting are instead actively reengineering themselves for success in the next fight and imagining what that next fight may look like Twenty First Century Military Innovation outlines the most theoretically important themes in contemporary warfare especially as these appear in distinctive innovations that signal changes in states warfighting capacities and their political goals Marcus Schulzke examines eight case studies that illustrate the overall direction of military innovation and important underlying themes He devotes three chapters to new weapons technologies drones cyberweapons and nonlethal weapons two chapters to changes in the composition of state military forces private military contractors and special operations forces and three chapters to strategic and tactical changes targeted killing population centric counterinsurgency and degradation Each case study includes an accessible introduction to the topic area an overview of the ongoing scholarly debates surrounding that topic and the most important theoretical implications This book can be read as an overview of the themes that run throughout innovations of varying types or it can be used by readers who are interested in particular topic areas A Month's German Newspapers Adam Luke Gowans,1915

Operation Just Cause Thomas Donnelly,Margaret C.
