Fault In Our Stars Curriculum:

Populism and Higher Education Curriculum Development: Problem Based Learning as a Mitigating Response Romeo V. Turcan, John E. Reilly, 2020-11-21 Against a background of increasing inequality and a rising tide of nationalism and populism this book raises concerns that curriculum is being shaped by powerful non academic non accountable forces and that populism and its manifestations represent a grave challenge to learning It explores the extent to which curriculum and learning methods in higher education should respond to this challenge Using problem based learning as a case study it draws on crossdisciplinary studies to examine how regional national and organizational perspectives emphasize different aspects of PBL It questions whether PBL provides an effective response to external influences and a populist higher education agenda In conclusion the book poses an uncomfortable question whether graduates reflect the external forces shaping curriculum and hence may be as vulnerable to populist rhetoric as non graduates precisely because the curriculum and learning methods do not engage with the challenges This book will appeal to scholars of problem based learning as well as populism and the role of higher education in society Journal of the National Education Association ,1926 The Journal of the National Education Association National Education Association of the United States,1926 Biography and the Human Adventure Howard William Hintz,1962 Washington Education Journal ,1926 Moral Education in School and Home James Ozro Engleman,1918 School & Society James McKeen Cattell, Will Carson Ryan, Raymond Walters,1926 The Journal of Education Thomas Williams Bicknell, Albert Edward Winship, Anson Wood Belding,1876 School and Society ,1926 *CEA.
