Gauteng Archive Of Past Question Papers:

Archives, Objects, Places and Landscapes Munyaradzi Manyanga, Shadreck Chirikure, 2017-04-11 Dissatisfaction has matured in Africa and elsewhere around the fact that often the dominant frameworks for interpreting the continent's past are not rooted on the continent's value system and philosophy. This creates knowledge that does not make sense especially to local communities. The big question therefore is can Africans develop theories that can contribute towards the interpretation of the African past using their own experiences. Framed within a concept revision substrate, the collection of papers in this thought-provoking volume argues for concept revision as a step towards decolonizing knowledge in the post-colony. The various papers powerfully expose that cleansed knowledge is not only locally relevant, it is also locally accessible and globally understandable.

Handbook of Research on Advocacy, Promotion, and Public Programming for Memory Institutions Ngulube, Patrick, 2019-01-11 Memory institutions such as archives, libraries and museums collect, arrange, describe and preserve their collections and holdings in order to make them accessible to the community. However, these institutions remain underutilized and are struggling to raise awareness of their existence and attract users and funders. The Handbook of Research on Advocacy, Promotion and Public Programming for Memory Institutions is a collection of innovative research on emerging strategies such as advocacy, outreach, marketing and public programming to promote memory institutions and engage the community. While highlighting topics including customer service, solutions, social media and collection development strategies, this book is ideally designed for heritage management and information professionals, curators, museum management, archival specialists, librarians, policymakers, researchers and academicians. Finding Voice

Kim Shelley Berman, 2018-01-02 In Finding Voice, Kim Berman demonstrates how she was able to use visual arts training in disenfranchised communities as a tool for political and social transformation in South Africa. Using her own fieldwork as a case study, Berman shows how hands-on work in the arts with learners of all ages and backgrounds can contribute to economic stability by developing new skills as well as enhancing public health and gender justice within communities. Berman's work and the community artwork her book documents present the visual arts as a crucial channel for citizens to find their individual voices and to become agents for change in the arenas of human rights and democracy.

Archives and Justice V. S. Harris, 2007 Annual reports of the Directorate State Archives and Heraldic Services South Africa. Directorate State Archives and Heraldic Services, 1995 S. A. argiefblad, 1996 Sisters for Justice Catherine Higgs, 2026-02-03 Sisters for Justice explores the activism of a select number of Catholic religious sisters in South Africa beginning in the 1960s. Catherine Higgs analyzes how these individuals seemingly small actions in a variety of spheres helped shift policy and contribute to the dismantling of the apartheid state. As she reveals, they helped provide basic medical services to displaced Africans, opened private convent schools to children of all races despite segregationist laws, advocated for African pension rights, served on justice and peace commissions and joined protests all while working within the context of a hierarchical male led church initially hesitant to criticize a state openly hostile to Catholics Based on extensive oral history interviews with white and Black sisters as well as deep archival research this groundbreaking book reveals a largely untold story nested within the broader literature of women s activism in South Africa The result is a new perspective that expands and intensifies our understanding of a dramatic period during which individual actions in the aggregate contributed to social change
