Paper Basics

Choosing the Topic
There are essentially two major types of topic you can choose: Expository and Research or Interpretive.

- A. Expository and Present
1. Expository or descriptive something. "How can the universe, a planet, an inanimate object, a book, a movie, etc., do any combination of those things?" Requires fact finding and research.
 - a. The most important word being "fact"
 2. Expository is such a paper must be accurate and documented.
 - a. There is no issue in an expository-based topic for opinion.
 - b. Eg. a paper such as "William Shakespeare's play Hamlet is the best play ever written in the English language" would be wrong. However, "Hamlet" is often the best play ever written in English" would be possible for possible if you can document this.
- B. Interpretive - Explains feelings or interpretations. Herein, the response "William Shakespeare's play Hamlet is the best play ever written in the English language" would be acceptable. "Why does Shakespeare's "Hamlet" have the "best" word "best" would not be the correct answer, as experts, it can be found on your own feelings about the piece.

Picking a Subject

- A. Know what interest you and be responsible to your or someone's situation. However, include both the materials you use (find about the topic) and the time available to use them to produce the paper.
- B. The topic must be broad and well-defined.
1. Avoid general topics such as "The History of the American Car."
 2. Focus on something specific, such as "How Many Ford Models the American Car Available in the Market."
 3. It is better to do a good job on a simple topic instead of a poor job on a complex topic. Remember, a good or poor result may be resulting on do with either the quality of your writing skills or the techniques you present in the paper. Of great general importance is whether you have sufficiently covered the topic you choose.
- C. Make sure your teacher approves the topic.
1. This should be a "no-brainer," but many students do a great deal of work on a project only to have it rejected by the teacher for any number of reasons.
 - a. If your teacher does reject the project, don't give up. You will have many opportunities to try to take a stand when your next grade isn't as perfect.
- D. Be prepared to change your topic if you proceed with your research. As you research further, you may find that your original topic presents a problem.
1. "I don't see the strength material available on the subject."
 2. There may be too much material on the subject for you to do a justice in the time available.
 3. In an interpretive/expressive paper, the material you discover may cause you to change your interpretation or opinion.
- E. Start early. An easy presentation. The longer you wait further down in a paper, the more likely it is that either the materials you need, or the time for research/writing will be unavailable.

Style

- A. Follow instructions.
Notes: The following is a checklist of the items required on every paper. Come to the class for help if you need it.
1. Paragraphs
 2. Bibliography
 3. Length of paper
 4. Approach

Expository/Expository continued

3. Table of contents
 4. Title page
 7. Index
 8. Single space or double space
- Approach
- A. Descriptive approach - Write about a thing, a person, or an event, such as "The Russian Thought of Kuznetsov." You would describe the thoughts, his efforts on Russian, events, conditions, etc.
- B. Expository approach - Explain why or how something happened such as "Why the Mississippi River Floated in 1993." You would describe time, scientific process, and statistics about accident and other causes.
- C. Argumentative approach - Example: "NEDS Education Should be Mandatory in High School"
1. First person often written, anecdotal or opinion, etc.
 2. Expository to you means how Descriptive or Explanatory in Argumentative, the material you need to include in the paper focuses on opinion.
 - a. You cannot take an Expository approach with out including Descriptive material.
 - b. You cannot take an Argumentative approach without including both Expository and Descriptive material.
 - c. How much of each you include will be dictated by the prescribed length of the paper and the amount of material you feel necessary to prove or disprove an opinion.

Research/Interpretive continued

1. General reference works such as encyclopedias, yearbooks, almanacs.
 - a. Encyclopedias articles give an overview and refer to books and journal articles.
 - b. Most general articles in general encyclopedias.
 - c. Take note of the citations of books and magazine articles on the topic. Make a list of those sources that will be useful.
2. Specialized reference works are found by using guides such as "College & Student's Guide to Reference Books."
 - a. Certain areas of knowledge has its own special reference works.
 - b. Some very reference work will be in your library.
 - c. Specialized guides, such as the Research Guide to Historical Documents the Social Science Index, the Illustrative Index and others, depending on the nature of your topic, are good sources of bibliography.
3. Working Bibliography
 1. Use 2nd index cards or 3x5 cardstock, record the author and title of each book, your location, etc.
 2. Arrange cards alphabetically by author and link up with numbers in each column or on-line coding. Call numbers will return to find books in library.

Research & Documentation

Efficient research requires a search strategy and strategy to take notes. There are two methods of research, Primary and Necessary.

- A. Primary Research - is the direct experience of an event or information.
1. Personally interview people with expertise in the field you are writing about or work knowledge of the event.
 2. Conduct observations or participate in an event.
 3. In case interviews, the writer may be the first hand primary source. For example, a journalist on the front lines about war experience.

Notes: It is vital to have your observations that a teacher will often a detailed paper in the field on what you experience. It might be in fact where the experience is not of such importance as to have greater depth for others.

B. Necessary Research - The most common form of research involves finding what others have said on a topic.

1. This can take many forms, reading about your topic being the most obvious.
2. Other forms include copying information on a website, listening to recordings of speeches, music, etc.
3. The more widely available content of all the other sources in the library, although more and more frequently students are also using the Internet.

Search Strategy

- A. Object
1. Survey the library and other areas available on the topic. There are books, CDs, records, on-line and work other sources on CD-ROMs, Internet, records, videos, and on occasion, personal tapes, etc.
 2. Carry information about your topic.
 3. Complete a working bibliography.
- B. Sources
- Notes: Listed on the next column are the steps for finding print information in the library. An exact copy of research via computer sources can be downloaded or recorded. Authors through more advanced. Check with your librarian for more information.

Taking Notes

- A. Process
1. Organize your books and other books and articles.
 2. Organize bibliography of sources with full name of author, complete title, edition, date of publication, place of publication, publisher, date of publication, and number of volumes.
 3. Record page numbers of sources from which you take notes.
 - a. For articles, record full name of magazine being consulted, or volume number or article number, page and issue number, magazine page number of article, and author of article.
 - b. Recording full information may not save time later.
- B. Necessary to Essential
1. Consistently follow into form of note taking.
 2. Each note consists of one basic information.
 3. Write the notes in your own words. If you quote in each a phrase, do it correctly and include in within quotation marks.
- C. Systems
1. Taking notes on 3x5 cards is recommended.
 - a. Some writers prefer the larger 4x6 cards.
 - b. Record the author, title, and page number of the source of the note on each card.
 - i. This may allow you the author and title.
 - ii. Use only one side of each card.
 2. Notes can also be made in loose leaf notebooks. Use only one side of paper so that separate notes can be cut out and put into topical index when writing the topic paper.
- A. Computers facilitate researching and preparing the written paper.
- a. Different programs have different features.
 - b. Always record the author of each note and always use quotation marks to indicate what you have copied.

Documentation

- Background
- A. Document your sources of information.
- B. Most different technical aspect of term papers. Information sources are complete.
- C. There are different styles of documentation.
1. One style is traditionally used for papers in the humanities.

Essays Term Papers: Bestsellers in 2023 The year 2023 has witnessed a noteworthy surge in literary brilliance, with numerous engrossing novels captivating the hearts of readers worldwide. Lets delve into the realm of bestselling books, exploring the fascinating narratives that have enthralled audiences this year. The Must-Read : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This heartfelt tale of love, loss, and resilience has captivated readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover skillfully weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can succeed. Essays Term Papers : Taylor Jenkins Reids "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This captivating historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reids captivating storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Essays Term Papers : Delia Owens "Where the Crawdads Sing" This mesmerizing coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens crafts a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, entrancing readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These popular novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of compelling stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is an exceptional and gripping novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
