Civil Service Management and Administrative Systems in South Asia Ishtiaq Jamil, Tek Nath Dhakal, Narendra Raj Paudel, 2018-06-25 This book examines public administration in South Asia in the context of rapid changes and modernization of administrative traditions thoughts and practices The existing literature has however not given adequate attention to these developments at least in a single volume The book describes both the shared administrative traditions of Bhutan Bangladesh China India the Maldives Nepal Pakistan and Sri Lanka and how far they have adapted their administrative systems to respond to contemporary administrative and governance challenges The book studies how national civil service reforms have been carried out in each member state of South Asia and how the national civil service acts and different regulations are being implemented as well as what are the critical factors associated with the implementation of national civil service acts and reform measures in the region

Architecture of Caste in Pakistan Ghulam Hussain, 2026-03-17 This book is a groundbreaking and original contribution to understanding the intersectionality of caste race and class in South Asia Grounded in rich ethnographic fieldwork it situates its analyses in Pakistan to reveal how caste often denied or obscured by nationalist religious and liberal progressive discourses continues to shape everyday hierarchies moral imaginaries and political structures It unravels how both privileged and oppressed caste groups invoke the past to construct identities and contest histories in the present showing how systemic discrimination has pushed Scheduled Castes and Pasmanda communities to the lowest rungs of the social economic and political hierarchy Moving beyond the familiar frames of Indian caste practices the book demonstrates that caste in Pakistan is not a relic of the past or a Hindu problem but a transreligious and deeply entrenched social structure sustained across Hindu Muslim and Christian communities alike Foregrounding caste as an analytic category and a fundamental marker of identity the book interrogates the role of hegemonic actors religious nationalist and secular in strategically denying or reasserting caste to preserve structures of privilege Combining theoretical sophistication with moral and ethnographic engagement Architecture of Caste in Pakistan compels a rethinking of caste religion and equality in Muslim societies This volume will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of caste and discrimination studies critical Dalit and Pasmanda studies sociology social anthropology and South Asian studies

Berman,2017-09-25 A state of the art one stop resource Public Administration in South Asia India Bangladesh and Pakistan examines public administration issues and advances in the Indian subcontinent The book fulfills a critical need These nations have the largest public administration programs in South Asia yet existing knowledge on them is fragmented at best. Bringing together leading scholars from these countries, this book provides both an insider perspective and a scholarly look at the challenges and accomplishments in the region. Focusing on the machinery of government, the book explores questions such as: What is the history of public administration development? How are major decisions made in the agencies? Why are anti-corruption efforts so much a challenge? What is the significance of intergovernmental relations? What is the success of administrative reform? What are examples of successful social development programs? How successful is e-government and what are its challenges? Why is civil service reform difficult to achieve? How is freedom of information being used as a means to combat corruption and invoke grassroots activism? What can be learned from the successes and failures? While public administration practice and education have become considerably professionalized in the last decade, a sufficiently in-depth and well-rounded reference on public administration in these countries is sorely lacking. Most available books tackle only aspects of public administration such as administrative reforms, civil service, economic developments, or public policy and are country-specific. None provide the in-depth analysis of the sphere of public action in South Asia found in this book. It supplies an understanding of how public administration can be either the source of or solution to so many of the problems and achievements in the Indian subcontinent.
