

ANSWERS & EXPLANATIONS GENERAL STUDIES (P) TEST – 3181 (2021)

Q 1.C

- A market garden is the relatively small-scale production of fruits, vegetables and flowers as cash crops, frequently sold directly to consumers and restaurants.
- In north-western Europe intensive market gardening is carried out in many specialized areas where climatic, soil, small size of the farms and other factors best suit this form of agriculture.
- This region includes some of the most crowded parts of the globe and industrialized nations. In fact there are more towns and cities than in other continents despite its small size. Most of its produce is consumed in the domestic market. So, it has little surplus to export. It is, in fact, a net importer of food crops and other horticultural products. Hence, statement 1 is correct.
- As most of the horticulture crops are perishable, a good network of transport is indispensable. The produce is conveyed by high speed conveyances such as trucks or vans and is so called as truck farming in the USA. In Australia, high speed boats ply across the Bass Strait daily from Tasmania to most of the large cities in mainland Australia. Hence, statement 2 is correct.

Q 2.D

- The Austro languages of India belong to the Austro-Asiatic sub-family, which are represented by languages of the Munda or Kol Group, spoken in the central, eastern and north-eastern India and languages of the Mon-Khmer group like Khasi and Nicobarese. These are very ancient languages which have been in existence much before the advent of Aryans.
- Dravidian is the second most important group and comprises mainly of languages spoken in Southern India. It covers about 25% of the Indian population.
- The Sino-Tibetan or Mongoloid family stretches all over the sub-Himalayan tracts, covering North Bihar, North Bengal, Assam up to the north-eastern frontiers of the country.
- Indo-European language has the highest number of speakers in India. It is the biggest of the language groups in India and accounts for about 73% of the total Indian population. It comprises of all the principal languages of northern and western India such as Hindi, Bengali, Marathi, Gujarati, Punjabi, Sindhi, Rajasthani, Assamese, Oriya, Pahari, Bihari, Kashmiri, Urdu and Sanskrit. Hence option (d) is the correct answer.
