 - b. Shows what the glucose level has done for the last 3 months.
 - c. Indicates a true picture of the patient's nutritional state.
 - d. Reflects the effect of high glucose levels on the ability to produce red blood cells.

 - b. Exercise stimulates insulin overproduction.
 - c. Exercise decreases the renal threshold for glucose.
 - d. Exercise increases the use of glucose by muscles.

7. A client, age 23, is diagnosed with diabetes mellitus. The physician prescribes 15 U of U-100 regular insulin and 35 U of U-100 isophane insulin suspension (NPH) to be taken before breakfast. The nurse checks the medication order, assembles equipment, washes hands, rotates the NPH insulin vial, puts on disposable gloves, and clears the stoppers. To draw the two insulin doses into the single U-100 insulin syringe, which sequence should the nurse use?
 - a. Inject 35 U air into NPH vial; inject 15 U air into regular insulin vial; withdraw 15 U regular insulin; withdraw 35 U NPH.

 - d. Inject 35 U air into NPH vial; inject 15 U air into regular insulin vial; withdraw 35 U NPH; withdraw 15 U regular insulin.
8. A client with diabetes mellitus must learn how to self-administer insulin. The physician has prescribed 10 U of U-100 regular insulin and 35 U of U-100 isophane insulin suspension (NPH) to be taken before breakfast. Jung, F. Marks, W. Tilgen, 1993-06-22 The detection of cancer risk factors and their possible avoidance would most effectively contribute to the fight against cancer. Research in these areas depends to a substantial degree on in vivo experimental animal models and on epidemiologic studies including data from cancer registries. When the Deutsches Krebsforschungszentrum was founded in 1964 its division Mechanisms of Tumorigenesis and a number of other divisions became engaged in research on chemical carcinogenesis of the skin mainly using the mouse skin as an experimental model. Their interest originated in part from investigations of the new and at that time controversial pathogenic principle of conditional carcinogens as represented by certain tumor promoters which are per se noncarcinogenic. During the past 25 years conditional carcinogens in terms of tumor promoters were established as a new nonclassical category of cancer risk factors besides the classical solitary carcinogens. In the course of this exciting period scientists of our center started cooperative programs with clinical dermatologists of the University of Heidelberg at the Clinics of Dermatology in Heidelberg and Mannheim to extend the scope of their investigations into clinical oncology and to contribute by experimental approaches to solving problems in clinical oncology. This led to a gradual shift from mere animal studies to the more direct analyses of human tumors and opened up for us a new phase of research.
