

Declaration of Independence

IN CONGRESS JULY 4th 1776

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America

When in the course of these events we found ourselves obliged to declare the political association between Great Britain and these colonies, we declared our independence, and we have since that time been engaged in a contest for the preservation of our rights and liberties.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, that whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to promote their Safety and Happiness.
