Bauer, 2025-10-13 Today's students seek an education that connects classroom learning to their future success both personal and professional Teaching Life Skills in the Liberal Arts and Sciences Preparing Students for Success Beyond the Classroom is a practical guide for faculty and academic leaders who wish to meet this need by intentionally teaching and assessing the skills that employers most value critical thinking teamwork emotional intelligence cultural competence ethical reasoning and coachability Grounded in research from higher education and employer surveys this book provides evidence based strategies for teaching and assessing key life skills while still honoring the traditions of the liberal arts Chapters feature detailed guidance and creative prompts for using AI tools to further enhance instructional design By connecting academic experiences with students long term goals this book reaffirms the enduring relevance of a liberal arts education and offers a sustainable path forward in a rapidly changing world

Transparency in Assessment - Exploring the Influence of Explicit Assessment Criteria Anders Jönsson, Frans Prins, 2019-04-03 In many schools and higher education institutions it has become common practice to share assessment criteria with students Sometimes it is required for accountability purposes at other times criteria are used as a means to communicate expectations to students However the idea that explicit assessment criteria should be shared with students has been contested On the one hand research has shown that explicit criteria may positively affect student performance reduce their anxiety as well as support students use of self regulated learning strategies On the other hand there are fears that explicit criteria may have a restraining influence on students learning as well as limiting their autonomy and creativity There are also indications of students becoming more performance oriented as opposed to learning oriented when being provided with explicit assessment criteria Taken together it is not fully understood under which circumstances it is productive for student learning to share explicit assessment criteria and under which circumstances it is not In particular empirical research on the proposed negative effects of sharing criteria with learners is limited and most fears voiced in the literature are based on individual experiences and anecdotal evidence In this book we therefore bring different perspectives on transparency in assessment together in order to further our understanding of how students are influenced by the use of explicit assessment criteria A deeper understanding of the influence of explicit assessment criteria on students understanding of criteria motivation and learning is equally imperative for future research and educational practice both of which need to go beyond individual opinions and convictions
