

RESEARCH PROPOSAL TEMPLATE

When preparing an application for entry into a research higher degree program it is necessary to supply a clear statement describing the proposed area of research (a research proposal). Consultation with a faculty or school academic staff member in the research area of interest is recommended prior to submission of an application. Liaising with an academic allows you to frame the proposal to align with established disciplines and areas of supervisor capacity.

You must write your own research proposal and reference accordingly. The exception is when your potential supervisor finalises the research proposal with you, for a specific research project that has already been defined. Please visit the University's Academic Integrity pages and policy

General

- Length: From one to three pages is often suitable, depending on the area of research.
- Detail: The following outline may be used as a guide. You should consider each of the areas that will be relevant to your research.
- Minimum: The recommended minimum requirements are identified with an asterisk (*).

Research topic/title*

An initial working title should be provided and should describe the content and direction of your project. For example: A template for assisting research students in the development of a research proposal.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

Background

What is already known or unknown? Set the scene.

Aims*

What do you want to know, prove, demonstrate, analyse, test, investigate or examine? List your project aims in a logical sequence. For example:
The aim of this project is to:

- a) Provide an outline of a research proposal
- b) Enable a prospective student to prepare a research proposal

Methodology*

How do you anticipate you will achieve these aims?
What do you need? (specify any special equipment, software or material) Can you access necessary data or expertise?
Do you require particular resources?
Are there barriers or pitfalls?
Does the project involve human ethics, animal ethics or safety implications?
Is travel or fieldwork required? If so, where to, how long and at what intervals?

Expected outcomes, significance or rationale

Why is it important?
What do you expect it will deliver?
What are the expected outcomes?
Establish the importance of your project by highlighting its originality or why it is worth pursuing. Highlight the benefits, positive expected outcomes or innovative applications of knowledge.

Timetable*

Indicate the timeframe for each broad stage considering literature surveys, data collection, production, modelling, review, analysis, testing, reporting, chapter and thesis writing, and thesis submission date.

Morss,Tim Linzey,1991 The study of human development in New Zealand as elsewhere was long dominated by the theories of the Swiss psychologist Jean Piaget In recent years however Piaget s ideas have been increasingly challenged and even discredited Piaget it was discovered was unable to recognise the significance of social cultural or gender differences in development His only way of portraying development was as a universal sequence of stages Moreover Piaget s account of developmental change stopped at adolescence What are the implications of the eclipse of Piaget How do we study human development here and now after Piaget Growing up tackles these questions head on It does so in an accessible manner and in a New Zealand context Having summarised the reasons for Piaget's decline the contributors explore alternatives In particular they discuss Vygotsky and Bronfenbrenner which attempt to take account of the social cultural and historical contexts of individual development The emphasis throughout is on the need for explanation to be localised and specific Therefore special attention is paid to the New Zealand context and to issues of gender of race and of disability The role of research is also given critical attention since research in general has made the same assumptions of universality of which Piaget is now accused Growing up therefore introduces readers to a wide range of research methods and shows that the traditional psychology based methods are problematic Back cover Researching Society and Culture Clive Seale,1998-05-21 Comprehensive and well illustrated this is the definitive introductory textbook on methods and methodology for students in the social sciences and cultural studies It is structured around three key objectives to provide a full overview of and introduction to the research methods used in social science and cultural studies to provide undergraduate and postgraduate students with the skills needed to begin research with working examples from actual research and to examine the methodological and theoretical issues involved in doing research Researching Society and Culture is divided into four parts the first discusses the philosophy of social science developments in social theory methodology and the use of hi Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1991 Survival Robert M.
