

The "Big" Theorems (EVT, IVT, MVT, FTC)

On the AP Calculus Exams, students should be able to apply the following "Big" theorems though students need not know the proof of these theorems.

The Extreme Value Theorem (EVT)

- Formal Statement: If a function f is continuous on a closed interval $[a, b]$, then:
 1. There exists a number c in $[a, b]$ such that $f(x) \leq f(c)$ for all x in $[a, b]$.
 2. There exists a number d in $[a, b]$ such that $f(x) \geq f(d)$ for all x in $[a, b]$.
- Translation: If a function f is continuous on a closed interval $[a, b]$, then f takes on a maximum and a minimum value on that interval.
- Picture:

- Special Notes:
 - A function may attain its maximum and minimum value more than once. For example, the maximum value of $y = \sin(x)$ is 1 and it reaches this value many, many times.
 - The extreme values often occur at the endpoint of the domain. That's why it's so important to check the endpoints of an interval when doing a maximization/minimization problem!
 - For a constant function, the maximum and minimum values are equal (in fact, all the values are equal).

JavaScript & DHTML Cookbook Danny Goodman,2007-08-08 In today's Web 2.0 world JavaScript and Dynamic HTML are at the center of the hot new approach to designing highly interactive pages on the client side. With this environment in mind, the new edition of this book offers bite-sized solutions to very specific scripting problems that web developers commonly face. Each recipe includes a focused piece of code that you can insert right into your application. Why is JavaScript DHTML Cookbook so popular? After reading thousands of forum threads over the years, author and scripting pioneer Danny Goodman has compiled a list of problems that frequently vex scripters of various experience levels. For every problem he addresses, Goodman not only offers code but a discussion of how and why the solution works. Recipes range from simple tasks such as manipulating strings and validating dates in JavaScript to entire libraries that demonstrate complex tasks such as cross-browser positioning of HTML elements, sorting tables, and implementing Ajax features on the client. Ideal for novices as well as experienced scripters, this book contains more than 150 recipes for Working with interactive forms and style sheets, Presenting user-friendly page navigation, Creating dynamic content via Document Object Model scripting, Producing visual effects for stationary content, Positioning HTML elements, Working with XML data in the browser. Recipes in this Cookbook are compatible with the latest W3C standards and browsers including Internet Explorer 7, Firefox 2, Safari, and Opera 9. Several new recipes provide client-side Ajax solutions, and many recipes from the previous edition have been revised to help you build extensible user interfaces for Web 2.0 applications. If you want to write your own scripts and understand how they work rather than rely on a commercial web development framework, the JavaScript DHTML Cookbook is a must. Risk Revealed Paul Embrechts, Marius Hofert, Valérie Chavez-Demoulin,2024-04-11 Explore the concept of risk through numerous examples and their statistical modeling, traveling from a historical perspective all the way to an up-to-date technical analysis. Written with a wide readership in mind, this book begins with accounts of a selection of major historical disasters such as the North Sea flood of 1953 and the L'Aquila earthquake. These tales serve to set the scene and to motivate the second part of the book, which describes the mathematical tools required to analyze these events and how to use them. The focus is on the basic understanding of the mathematical modeling of risk and what types of questions the methods allow one to answer. The text offers a bridge between the world of science and that of everyday experience. It is written to be accessible to readers with only a basic background in mathematics and statistics. Even the more technical discussions are interspersed with historical comments and plentiful examples. Internet of Things with Intel Galileo Miguel de Sousa,2015-07-29 This book starts by teaching you the essentials of the Intel Galileo board: its components, how to wire it, and how to use it safely. The book will teach you how to use and combine simple sensors to build more complex, connected objects with the help of an Internet connection. You'll also learn how to control and read from your sensors by building a number of interesting projects. Finally, the book will familiarize you with the art of controlling your objects using mobile devices. By the end of the book, you'll be able to understand the key concepts of the Internet of Things and what a Thing truly is This book will make you ready and also more aware of what you can do with a Galileo board while inspiring you with more ideas to build your own home projects

Vehicle Research Program Stephen R. Owen,2004 This report covers Phase Three of a long term advanced vehicle research program of the Arizona Department of Transportation ADOT and its Arizona Transportation Research Center ATRC The primary focus of the research has evolved to topics in winter operations Phase Three the fifth year of this program included the 2002 03 winter season Phase One of this research 1997 2000 began with intelligent vehicle concept demonstrations relevant to Arizona s specific transportation needs These early efforts led to a joint program with California to field test the Caltrans advanced snowplow ASP in Arizona conditions In 1999 and 2000 over two winters ADOT crews evaluated California's ASP lane guidance system in four week test cycles at a three mile long two way test loop of embedded roadway magnets near Flagstaff In Phase Two 2000 01 the key goal was to acquire and test a driver assistance system for an ADOT snowplow The project selected the 3M Lane Awareness System and installed 5 miles of 3M magnetic striping tape at a second test site The partnership with Caltrans was continued to compare both guidance concepts in similar operating conditions However system problems with both research snowplows reduced the ability of ADOT and its partners to evaluate either concept In Phase Two b the 2001 02 winter ADOT's test and evaluation plans were successful as the technical issues of the previous winter had been resolved The key goal of side by side plowing operations was hampered by a lack of snowfall during the test period and the ADOT 3M snowplow's field tests were limited to only a few storms all winter Overall both concepts proved their effectiveness and reliability in 2001 02 but the mild weather did not allow the project to document their performance At this point it was clear to ADOT that the cost of either system was prohibitive and the research focus for 2002 03 was shifted from roadway based guidance concepts to commercial on board warning systems In the current Phase Three 2002 03 ADOT expanded the research activities to the I 40 Corridor districts east and west of Flagstaff The project equipped seven snowplows with either collision warning radar or passive infrared night vision at a much more practical level of cost With these new units in service on seven snowplow routes across northern Arizona the project determined winter performance results for both of the commercial on board warning systems Despite a mild winter results for the warning radar were positive overall but ice buildup in storms hampered the night vision system Both of these systems were judged to be effective and operationally successful with certain limitations Their field deployment in northern Arizona will be extended with some refinements for the 2003 04 winter season
