Maths Literacy Paper 2013 November Exam Paper2 Grade10:

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy. The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages. Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools. The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully. The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience.

In the creative classroom, mathematics becomes a tool to build confidence, develop problem-solving skills and motivate children. The fresh approaches explored in this book include a range of activities such as storytelling, music and construction, elevating maths learning beyond subject knowledge itself to enable students to see mathematics in a new way. Key chapters of this book explore Learning maths outdoors, make more noise, make more mess or work on a larger scale, Everyday maths, making sense of the numbers, patterns, shapes and measures children see around them, Music and maths, the role of rhythm in learning and music and pattern in maths. Stimulating, accessible and underpinned by the latest research and theory, this is essential reading for trainee and practising teachers who wish to embed creative approaches to maths teaching in their classroom.

The Important Role of the Early School Years for Reading, Writing and Math Development: Assessment and Intervention at School Entry Christoph Weber, Martin Schöfl, Susanne Seifert, Natalie Förster, 2025-12-01 School entry is a critical life event for young children. Students begin this new phase of their lives with very different abilities due to their individual characteristics, previous experiences and education. While some children hardly know any letters or numbers, others can already read, write and calculate quite fluently. To optimally support young learners according to their respective starting conditions, teachers must recognize students' learning prerequisites and adapt instruction to students' needs. To this end, both valid and economical assessments as well as effective and differentiated interventions are needed. This Research Topic addresses new developments in early assessments and assessment-based interventions around the time of school entry, from the last year before enrollment until second grade. In particular, this Research Topic aims to bring together research that directly contributes to assessing children's difficulties and providing evidence based support We highly welcome new innovative approaches from the fields of education didactics and psychology that focus on the assessment and assessment based instruction in reading writing and maths Any empirical studies that help to improve the assessment and assessment based interventions for the competencies mentioned are welcome We are looking for empirical quantitative or qualitative studies dealing with the target group of children around the age of school entry last year of kindergarten to second grade elementary school that include at least one of the following topics the presentation or testing of new assessment procedures that focus on performance in and prerequisites for reading writing and maths assessment based interventions both whole class or individual approaches in reading writing and maths the co development of sub skills in reading writing and maths and consequences for assessment and intervention Please note that manuscripts without prior submission of an abstract will not be considered for the research topic
