

Chapter 11

Issues of Reporting and Disclosure

Questions for Review and Discussion

1. The term accounting accountability — the primary government's direct or indirect holding authority of the unit's governing body, or a majority of the unit's governing body is composed of primary government officials and:
 - the primary government is able to prepare or will upon the principal instrument and/or
 - there is the potential for the organization to generate specific financial benefits to its highest officials (financial benefits to the primary government).
2. Effective government is when one or both competing sides are required to separate resources after their participating in the primary government. Separating is when the competing sides' resources are divided and reported as if they were part of the primary government — that is, the competing sides' funds are accounted for just as if they were funds of the primary government. Separating is required when the primary government and the competing sides are controlled by government funds having the same members as the competing and primary entities acting as the primary government (if these conditions are not satisfied then effective government is required).
3. Effective government, as it must be applied to government-wide accounts, allows for the aggregation of one number of different independent units, irrespective of type and basis of accounting. Therefore, it is said, the government is evenly aggregated and there is full value. The problem is mitigated by the requirement of fullness that is, all that the government publicly discloses financial information about each of its independent units.
4. The three main sections of the FASB are:
 - standards section
 - research section
 - technical section

The main components of the research section are:

 - public's report
 - conceptual framework and analysis (CFAA)
