

Lab 5: Mendelian Genetics

Name: _____

Introduction

Most inherited human characteristics result from the interaction of a number of genes, or portions of a DNA molecule that code for traits. When a gene is used we say it is expressed. Most genes have more than one variant or allele present in a population. We will examine some traits that are controlled by only one pair of genes. The inheritance of these traits is easily determined because they have only two types of alleles, a dominant or a recessive. A dominant trait will be expressed even if only exists in the pair. A recessive trait will only be expressed if both genes in the homologous pair are recessive.

Your phenotype is what can be seen, tested, or measured. It is what we can see on the outside, what is being expressed. Your genotype is what is actually coded on your genes (the alleles you have). Knowing your phenotype may or may not let you determine your genotype. For an example trait, consider human ear lobes. Some people have ear lobes attached to their head, and other people have ear lobes that hang free below the ear. The "attached" allele is recessive (we'll call the "attached" allele "e"), and the "free" allele is dominant over the "attached" allele (we'll call the "free" allele "E"). People who have attached earlobes must have the genotype ee (meaning they got one recessive e allele from each parent), since they would have free earlobes if they had even one dominant E allele. People with free earlobes could have the genotype EE or Ee, both of which lead to the same appearance in ears. So, someone with free earlobes would denote their genotype as "EE or Ee", or as "E__".

A Punnett Square is a helpful tool that helps to predict the variations and probabilities that can come from cross breeding. This includes predicting crossing plants, animals, even humans with each other. Typically, Punnett Squares are used with Mendelian Inheritance: Mendel was the scientist who helped pioneer genetics and give us our basic, fundamental understanding of how traits work.

Key Terms:

- Genotype: The genetic makeup of the organism, what you can find when you look at the DNA
- Phenotype: The physical makeup of the organism, the characteristics you can see
 - Note: Genotype and Phenotype are not the same! What you see with the phenotype maybe different in the genotype, that's why the Punnett is important to see that!
- Homozygous: When both alleles are the same type, either both dominant or both recessive
- Heterozygous: When the alleles differ in type, with one being dominant and one being recessive. Dominant alleles will almost always mask recessive alleles.
- Dominant allele: The trait that has a higher probability of occurring and more likely to be seen
- Recessive allele: The trait that has a lower probability and may not be seen physically
